

White Supremacy Groups in the United States

Key Points:

- Some modern white supremacist groups, such as The Base, Hammerskin Nation, National Socialist Order (formerly Atomwaffen Division), and Nationalist Social Club subscribe to a National Socialist (neo-Nazi) ideology. These groups generally make no effort to hide their overt racist belief that the white race is superior to others.
- Other modern white supremacist groups, however, propagate their radical stances under the guise of white ethno-nationalism, which seeks to highlight the distinctiveness—rather than the superiority—of the white identity. Such groups, like the League of the South and Patriot Front, usually claim that white identity is under threat from minorities or immigrants that seek to replace its culture, and seek to promote white ethno-nationalism as a legitimate ideology that belongs in mainstream political spheres.
- Many modern white supremacist groups eschew violent tactics in favor of using demonstrations and propaganda to sway public opinion and portray their ideologies as legitimate. However, their racial elitist ideologies have nonetheless spurred affiliated individuals to become involved in violent altercations.
- White supremacist groups often target youth for recruitment through propaganda campaigns on university campuses and social media platforms. White supremacists have long utilized Internet forums and websites to connect, organize, and propagate their extremist messages.

Executive Summary

Since the Ku Klux Klan (KKK) first formed in 1865, white supremacist groups in the United States have propagated racism, hatred, and violence. Individuals belonging to these groups have been charged with a range of crimes, including civil rights violations, racketeering, solicitation to commit crimes of violence, firearms and explosives violations, and witness tampering.<sup>1</sup> Nonetheless, white supremacist groups—and their extremist ideologies—persist in the United States today. A February 2017 Southern Poverty Law Center report identified 100 active white nationalist and 99 active neo-Nazi groups in the country.<sup>2</sup> In an October 2020 assessment by the U.S. Department of Homeland Security, Acting Homeland Security Secretary Chad Wolf declared white supremacist violent extremists “have been exceptionally lethal in their abhorrent, targeted attacks in recent years.”<sup>3</sup> In March 2021, Secretary of Homeland Security Alejandro Mayorkas declared domestic violent extremism “poses the most lethal and persistent terrorism-related threat to the homeland today.”<sup>4</sup>

The Counter Extremism Project (CEP) has identified multiple virulent white supremacist groups, which principally espouse white ethno-nationalism and/or National Socialism (neo-Nazi). Neo-Nazi groups, such as the National Socialist Movement (NSM), generally make no effort to hide their belief that the white race is superior to others. Their ideologies also usually include antisemitic and homophobic components that are in line with Nazi dogma. In contrast, groups such as the League of the South and Identity Evropa propagate their radical stances under the guise of white ethno-nationalism, which seeks to highlight the distinctiveness—rather than the superiority—of the white identity. Furthermore, it claims that the white identity is under threat from minorities or immigrants that seek to replace its culture. For example, Identity Evropa’s chant, “You will not replace us,” insinuates that growing minority populations threaten to overtake whites of European heritage in American society.<sup>5</sup> Members of this new generation of white supremacists, such as former Traditionalist Worker Party (TWP) leader Matthew Heimbach, have decried the traditional supremacist narrative of the inferiority of non-white races. Heimbach and his contemporaries have instead focused on racial separation rather than racial superiority, promoting the idea that all races are better served by remaining separate.<sup>6</sup>

Spurred by the rise of these younger ethno-nationalist leaders and organizations, some overtly racist groups have attempted to soften their radical images. In late 2016, the NSM abandoned its use of the swastika in order to “appear more integrated and more mainstream,” according to then-NSM leader Jeff Schoep.<sup>7</sup> Despite the cosmetic change, the NSM’s ideology and rhetoric have largely remained unchanged, while groups like the Hammerskins have thoroughly rejected the attempt at rebranding.

In a further effort to gain popular support and acceptance for their radical platforms, many of the groups profiled in this resource have officially renounced violence and instead rely on demonstrations and propaganda to sway public opinion. Nonetheless, many affiliated individuals have still been involved in violent altercations spurred by ideologies that encourage racial elitism. Furthermore, violence plays a defining role for groups like AWD, which projected the image of a heavily armed militia preparing for an impending race war.<sup>8</sup> AWD disbanded in March 2020 after the arrest of several of its members.<sup>9</sup> In July 2020, former AWD members reorganized as National Socialist Order (NSO) and pledged to “build an Aryan, National Socialist world by any means necessary.”<sup>10</sup>

Groups like Identity Evropa—which shut down in March 2019 as its leaders created the now-defunct American Identity Movement (AIM)—officially reject violence but their identitarian ideology has directly inspired it. Identitarians—including those based in non-European countries such as the United States and Australia—associate their Western identity as European. Identitarians subscribe to a theory known as the Great Replacement, in which non-European migrants threaten to replace the dominant white European culture.<sup>11</sup> The March 15, 2019, attack on two New Zealand mosques that left at least 50 dead was a direct manifestation of the identitarian ideology to which Identity Evropa and AIM subscribe. Alleged attacker Brenton Tarrant entitled his manifesto “The Great Replacement” and wrote about the “crisis of mass immigration ... that, if not combated, will ultimately result in the complete racial and cultural replacement of the European people.”<sup>12</sup> Like Identity Evropa, Tarrant identified a broader white European ethnic identity prevalent in the Western world that transcended national borders.

Most of the groups profiled are comprised of a younger demographic of individuals in their 20s and 30s, and primarily target youth for recruitment through social media and other means. Groups like Identity Evropa, AWD, and Patriot Front have spread their propaganda on college campuses, and groups such as the National Socialist Movement and League of the South have created youth wings and student memberships.<sup>13</sup> In recent years, social media and the Internet have also provided new outlets for white supremacists to spread their messages and recruit supporters. The founders of AWD met and organized on the now-defunct fascist online forum IronMarch and created a cult-like subculture on social media through which they have further propagated their ideology.<sup>14</sup> After the February 2020 arrest of several AWD leaders, a group of former AWD leaders who were not arrested reorganized online in July 2020 as National Socialist Order.<sup>15</sup> Stormfront, America’s oldest and most notorious neo-Nazi online forum founded in 1995, was removed by its Internet host in August 2017, but simply resurfaced months later.<sup>16</sup> Other forums, like the Daily Stormer, have moved their operations to the Dark Web, which is accessible only through encrypted software.<sup>17</sup> Websites like American Renaissance—which is

Group Summaries

American Renaissance

- Summary: American Renaissance is a right-wing magazine-turned-blog dedicated to discussing the “problems of race.”<sup>18</sup> The online magazine is edited by Jared Taylor, who has previously acted as a spokesman for the white supremacist group Council of Conservative Citizens (CCC). CCC president Earl Holt has also contributed to and commented on American Renaissance’s website.<sup>19</sup> American Renaissance’s publishers consider it the “Internet’s premier race-realist site.”<sup>20</sup>

American Renaissance ran as a monthly print magazine from 1990 to 2012 before switching to an online-only format.<sup>21</sup> American Renaissance collects tax-deductible donations through the New Century Foundation, a 501(c)(3) non-profit Taylor created in 1994.<sup>22</sup> According to the Southern Poverty Law Center, the New Century Foundation promotes “pseudo-scientific studies and research that purport to show the inferiority of blacks to whites,” which utilize academic jargon to disguise itself as serious scholarship.<sup>23</sup> In 2016, the Associated Press reported that the New Century Foundation, alongside three other white supremacist non-profit groups, had raised more than $8 million in a 10-year period.<sup>24</sup>

Telegram following had more than doubled to 7,962,<sup>36</sup> while its followers on BitChute increased by more than 50 percent to 24,695.<sup>37</sup>

In addition to its online activities, the website's followers also meet in person. American Renaissance's 2017 annual conference drew what it called a "sell-out," "record" crowd of 300 participants, and allegedly turned away up to 150 others.<sup>38</sup> The conference included notorious white supremacists such as Richard Spencer and Nathan Damigo of Identity Evropa.<sup>39</sup> More than 250 attended the 2018 conference.<sup>40</sup> Approximately 300 attended American Renaissance's 2019 conference in Tennessee.<sup>41</sup>

- Recruitment and Propaganda: American Renaissance employs what Jared Taylor has referred to as "sober, factual discussion" in order to present its ethno-nationalism as an academic endeavor.<sup>42</sup> The website's leaders employ academic language to present racist ideas as legitimate social science. For example, the group's self-description claims they are "dedicated to the study of immigration and race relations so as to better understand the consequences of America's increasing diversity..."<sup>43</sup> American Renaissance labels its so-called academic approach as "race realism," the study of which it promotes as necessary for "the survival of the West."<sup>44</sup>

American Renaissance also maintains a merchandise section on its website, and encourages visitors to donate directly to the site's non-profit parent group, New Century Foundation, or bequeath a donation in their wills.<sup>45</sup>

In June 2020, American Renaissance took advantage of racial protests over the death of African American man George Floyd in police custody. In a June 9 blog post, Taylor welcomed new readers who understand that American Renaissance writers "have an understanding of race that you are not likely to find elsewhere."<sup>46</sup> As protests against police brutality spread across the country, American Renaissance writers such as political commentator Pat Buchanan warned of a the “Left’s Coming War on Cops,” which, he wrote, will “likely to become a forever war in America” that results in “more violent collisions between white cops and black suspects, collisions that result in deaths.”<sup>47</sup> Other American Renaissance writers pointed to “decades of anti-white indoctrination” and “anti-white anarcho-tyranny” that sparked the 2020 racial protests.<sup>48</sup>

- Violent Activities: American Renaissance is not known to have instigated any violent attacks. The organization instead relies on the spread of racist propaganda through its own media channels.
- Rhetoric:
  - Jared Taylor, American Renaissance blog post, August 31, 2021: “No mainstream publication anywhere and very few dissident ones will report that, according to official FBI statistics, blacks are twice as likely as whites to commit hate crimes, and that this is consistent, year to year. Political and media elites can hardly even conceive of blacks as hate criminals. If police were ordered to look for racial bias in non-white-on-white crimes — of which there are vastly more than white-on-non-white crimes — they would surely find a lot of it.

“Needless to say, whites do not have organized lobbies calling attention to anti-white hate the authorities may be ignoring. And if there were such lobbies, the authorities would ignore them.”<sup>49</sup>

- Jared Taylor, American Renaissance blog post, May 6, 2021: “Critical Race Theory is finally pushing ordinary whites over the edge. And what happens when they object to being called inherently racist? They’re called inherently white supremacist. This should wake them up even more – and send them our way.

“But whites can’t stop at defensive action. We have to assert *our* rights, make *our* demands, defend *our* heritage. There is no compromise with people who want to abolish whiteness. Angry whites may beat them down for now, but they’ll be back. There is only one solution. To be separate from, beyond the reach, and fortified against these people.

“Only then, can we be sure our people have a future.”<sup>50</sup>

- Jared Taylor, American Renaissance blog post, April 20, 2021: “This is how ‘justice’ works in the age of Black Lives Matter. The media whoop up an ambiguous encounter between a white cop and a black criminal to the point that the whole world thinks this is Emmett Till all over again. - Gregory Hood, American Renaissance, March 19, 2021: “If you remove any non-white group from American history, the country still exists. It would probably be better. If America continues its present course and whites become a minority, ‘America’ becomes a name on a map.”<sup>52</sup>
- Stephen Paul Foster, American Renaissance blog post, March 6, 2021: “...I started noticing how often whites were on the losing side of race relations in America: the Rodney King riots, the OJ Simpson trial, forced bussing, affirmative action, diversity training, etc. Everywhere I looked, raging black incivility and incompetence was only ever met with more white guilt and feckless palliatives.”<sup>53</sup>
- Stephen Paul Foster, American Renaissance blog post, March 6, 2021: “My white guilt and belief in racial equality are long gone. I’ve seen enough to know for sure that the races are different, and that the attempts to make them equal are largely scams. And the few honest egalitarians out there are doomed to failure, no matter how noble their intentions may be. I’m old. I have grandchildren, and I fear for their future. I hope young white adults take the red pill before it’s too late, before America starts to become another Zimbabwe.”<sup>54</sup>
- Ryan Andrews, American Renaissance blog post, February 27, 2021: “We live in a country in which every major institution has explicitly favored non-Whites over Whites for the better part of three generations, a country in which reducing Whites’ share of the population has long been official policy.”<sup>55</sup>
- Gregory Hood, American Renaissance blog post, January 6, 2021: “A changing population means removing whites from power. For decades, people warned Republicans about this; the Cassandras were purged. Now, the consequences are obvious to everyone. Just look at what happened in Georgia last night. The Democrats are taking the Senate, thanks to heavy black turnout.”<sup>56</sup>

Atomwaffen Division/National Socialist Order

- Summary: German for “atomic weapons,” Atomwaffen Division (AWD) is a neo-Nazi organization that seeks the creation of a National Socialist government through a violent “white revolution,” and believes that a race war is inevitable.<sup>72</sup> The group promotes Nazi and satanic propaganda in pursuit of “total Aryan victory.”<sup>73</sup> AWD gained national prominence after some of its members attacked counter-protesters at the August 2017 Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia. Police also suspect individual AWD members to be the perpetrators of multiple murders throughout 2017 and 2018.<sup>74</sup> The FBI arrested multiple AWD members in February 2020 on harassment charges, leading to the group’s alleged disbanding the following month.<sup>75</sup> In July 2020, former AWD members reorganized as National Socialist Order (NSO) in order to “build an Aryan, National Socialist world by any means necessary.”<sup>76</sup> In November 2021, a splinter group of former AWD members angered NSO by claiming to revive AWD.<sup>77</sup>

AWD followed a neo-Nazi ideology promoted by James Mason, a former American Nazi Party member and a follower of cult leader Charles Manson.<sup>78</sup> During the 1980s, Mason wrote a series of pro-Manson and pro-Nazi newsletters that he called Siege and later compiled into a book of the same name.<sup>79</sup> Users on the now-defunct fascist web forum

Iron March formed AWD after discovering Siege. They based AWD's ideology on Mason's ideas of autonomous terror cells fighting a guerilla war against "the system."<sup>80</sup>

A 2018 joint ProPublica and PBS investigation identified multiple active-duty and former U.S. soldiers in AWD, including co-founder Brandon Russell, who served in the Florida National Guard.<sup>81</sup> These AWD members have reportedly organized training sessions in hand-to-hand combat and weaponry.<sup>82</sup> ProPublica identified active-duty Marine Vasillios Pistolis as an AWD cell leader responsible for physical attacks during the 2017 Charlottesville protest.<sup>83</sup> The Marines court martialled, jailed, and discharged Pistolis after the public revelation of his identity.<sup>84</sup>

Other far-right groups have condemned AWD as a cult front for the British neo-Nazi Satanist group the Order of the Nine Angles. In January 2018, a former AWD member wrote online that the group had been infiltrated by Satanists. According to leaked chat transcripts, several AWD members resigned as of March 2018 because of the growing occult fixation, while others embraced the satanic imagery.<sup>85</sup>

On February 26, 2020, federal authorities arrested former AWD leader John Cameron Denton and four other members—Taylor Ashley Parker-Dieppe, Johnny Roman Garza, Kaleb Cole, and Cameron Brandon Shea—on multiple harassment charges, including sending antisemitic and racist threats to journalists and participation in swatting conspiracies. Swatting is a harassment tactic that involves misleading dispatchers with information on an imminent threat in a specific location, leading authorities to respond in full force, including a SWAT team response. Authorities accused Shea and Cole of leading the conspiracy.<sup>86</sup> Parker-Dieppe and Garza pled guilty in September 2020 to

COUNTER EXTREMISM PROJECT

On July 25, 2020, a group of former AWD leaders announced the reorganization of AWD into the National Socialist Order (NSO). NSO leaders claimed they learned from the mistakes of AWD, pointing to a lack of ideological cohesion. The NSO leaders further claimed they had built the NSO with a new leadership dedicated to creating an “Aryan, National Socialist world by any means necessary.”<sup>96</sup> NSO declared itself to be a U.S.-based organization dedicated to Adolf Hitler and in “support the overthrow of all Jew-controlled governments worldwide in order to liberate the Aryan race.”<sup>97</sup> According to NSO’s official program, NSO completely rejects the current social-political world order, which the group denounced as a “left-wing framework cultivated by the Jew.”<sup>98</sup> The group further called for all members to be armed and “ready at a moment’s notice” as its priority is to “seize territorial power by any means necessary.”<sup>99</sup> In September 2020, NSO members put up NSO stickers on business fronts in Colorado. The stickers had images of Adolf Hitler, a swastika, and a recruitment email address.<sup>100</sup> The following month, Ukraine deported two men identified as AWD members who had reportedly attempted to create a local chapter, despite Mason’s dissolution of AWD earlier that summer. The two also allegedly attempted to join a Ukrainian military unit to receive training.<sup>101</sup> NSO has affirmed it is a U.S.-based organization but supports “the overthrow of all Jew-controlled governments worldwide in order to liberate the Aryan race.”<sup>102</sup>

NSO announced itself on the newly created American Futurist website. The website’s language mirrors that previously found on the Siege Culture website, the now-defunct site administered by Iron March members that hosted Mason’s writings. The site’s administrators claim the site is not a reorganization of AWD or any other group. According to the site’s administrators, its purpose is to “spread the message and ideas of James Mason” and American Futurism,<sup>103</sup> which they define as “Fascism based on Anti-Tradition; or, to put it better, anti-modern Jew-influenced traditions.”<sup>104</sup>

On November 8, 2021, a self-proclaimed group of former AWD members posted an announcement on the National Socialist/fascist website Das Paradies that AWD was reorganizing to provide guidance to the broader fascist movement. The announcement called Mason’s March 2020 statement disbanding AWD “now officially defunct” and “nothing more than a bad memory.”<sup>105</sup> The posting also emphasized AWD and NSO are separate organizations.<sup>106</sup> On November 9, the American Futurist and Mason both denounced the new AWD. A post on the American Futurist site announced the American Futurist and Mason no longer supported Das Paradies. According to the post, Mason was furious about the new AWD. American Futurist editor-in-chief “Texas Pete” claimed the new AWD was run by a former member and an associate of AWD founder Brandon Russell, but Russell was not involved. American Futurist editors allegedly helped build the Das Paradies website, which its founders had promoted as a survivalism and camping website. According to Texas Pete, the Das Paradies founders misrepresented themselves to American Futurist and Mason to get their endorsement.<sup>107</sup> The same day, the new AWD announced on Das Paradies it was severing ties with the NSO, American Futurist, Mason, and Russell. According to the November 9 AWD announcement, “AWD can NEVER be disbanded again by ANYONE. Anyone trying to claim that the Atomwaffen Division is disbanded or fake is nothing more than a coward trying to hinder our efforts.”<sup>108</sup>

On November 12, the American Futurist released a video of Mason condemning the new AWD as a “stupid action on the part of one lone nut” that threatened to put other former AWD members in legal jeopardy from “the enemy government.”<sup>109</sup> Mason condemned “the enemy media” for spreading the “lie” of a new AWD.<sup>110</sup> He reiterated that AWD had retired “with all honor” in 2020 and it would continue to live in legend like the American Nazi Party and the National Socialist Liberation Front.<sup>111</sup>

- Base of Operations: AWD had no central base of operations. AWD reportedly operated chapters in Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Illinois, Kentucky, Maine, Massachusetts, Michigan, Minnesota, Mississippi, Missouri, Nevada, New Jersey, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Virginia, Washington, Washington, D.C., Wisconsin, Canada, and Germany.<sup>112</sup>

AWD has posted propaganda videos on the video-sharing service BitChute.<sup>114</sup> The group previously posted propaganda videos to YouTube, which led to a February 2018 Daily Beast report on YouTube’s refusal to ban AWD for violations of its terms of service. YouTube subsequently suspended AWD’s account, citing “multiple or severe violations of YouTube’s policy prohibiting hate speech.”<sup>115</sup>

- Leadership: Brandon Russell and Devon Arthurs co-founded AWD in 2015.<sup>116</sup> John Cameron Denton, a.k.a. “Rape,” was the last reported leader of AWD, though Russell reaffirmed his position as leader in a May 2018 recording from prison.<sup>117</sup> Denton was arrested on February 26, 2020. The U.S. Justice Department identified him as a former leader of AWD.<sup>118</sup> Kaleb J. Cole was the reported leader of AWD’s Washington state chapter. Upon NSO's creation in July 2020, a member named Ryan Arthur introduced the new group on the American Futurist website. It is unclear what Arthur's official role is or whether this is a pseudonym.<sup>121</sup>

- Membership Size and Relevance: AWD reportedly had approximately 80 members in about 20 cells around the United States as of 2018. According to a former AWD member, AWD saw a membership surge after the 2017 Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia. A 2018 ProPublica investigation identified AWD members in at least 23 states. According to AWD chat records, its largest chapters were in Washington, Virginia, and Texas.<sup>122</sup> The group had also reportedly expanded into Canada and Germany.<sup>123</sup>

In July 2018, AWD members on the social media site Gab began displaying the name Sonnenkrieg Division, which launched its own Gab page the following month. The group is a British branch of AWD and uses similar propaganda and imagery.<sup>124</sup> Two members were imprisoned in 2019 for threatening to kill Prince Harry, whom they labeled a "race traitor" for marrying a woman of mixed race. The United Kingdom banned Sonnenkrieg Division in February 2020.<sup>125</sup> Australia banned Sonnenkrieg Division in March 2021.<sup>126</sup> In July 2020, the United Kingdom banned another AWD-linked organization, Feuerkrieg Division.<sup>127</sup> In April 2021, U.S. Representative Elissa Slotkin called on the U.S. government to designate more than a dozen foreign white supremacist groups as terrorist organizations. Leaked chat logs of AWD members include discussions of targeting U.S. power facilities and other infrastructure.<sup>152</sup> The group itself has not yet claimed any specific attacks, but individual AWD members have been linked to multiple acts of violence.
  - On January 2, 2018, AWD member Sam Woodward allegedly fatally stabbed 20-year-old University of Pennsylvania student Blaze Bernstein in California. Authorities accuse Woodward of killing Bernstein for being gay.<sup>153</sup> AWD has praised Bernstein’s murder.<sup>154</sup>
  - On December 22, 2017, 17-year-old Nicholas Giampa murdered his girlfriend’s parents, Buckley Kuhn-Fricker and Scott Fricker, in their Reston, Virginia, home. Giampa then shot himself but survived. The Frickers had reportedly encouraged their daughter to break up with Giampa because of his extremist views. Prior to the murders, Giampa had tweeted about using Jews for target practice, his love for Adolf Hitler, and hatred of transgender people. He had also praised James Mason’s book, Siege.<sup>155</sup> AWD members said that Giampa had been in direct contact with the group.<sup>156</sup> Police charged Giampa with murder upon his release from the hospital, though he was charged as a minor.<sup>157</sup> In September 2019, a juvenile court judge in Fairfax County, Virginia, ruled Giampa could be tried as an adult.<sup>158</sup>

Pistolis had bragged online about engaging in violence at the rally.<sup>160</sup>
- On May 19, 2017, former AWD member and co-founder Devon Arthurs took hostages at a smoke shop in Tampa, Florida. Police convinced Arthurs to release the hostages without incident. Arthurs then confessed that he had killed two of his roommates, Jeremy Himmelman and Andrew Oneschuk. Arthurs also told police that his other roommate, AWD co-founder Brandon Russell, was stockpiling explosives to blow up power plants and synagogues in Florida.<sup>161</sup> Arthurs claimed he killed his roommates to prevent an AWD terror attack.<sup>162</sup> Police discovered the bodies of Himmelman and Oneschuk and explosive materials at the shared condo.<sup>163</sup> In September 2017, Russell pled guilty to stockpiling the explosives.<sup>164</sup> He received a five-year sentence in January 2018.<sup>165</sup> In February 2018, Arthurs was found mentally unfit to stand trial.<sup>166</sup> Arthurs was again deemed mentally unfit to stand trial in May 2020.<sup>167</sup>

The Base

- Summary: The Base is a neo-Nazi, white-supremacist network that describes itself as an “international survivalist and self-defense network” that seeks to train their members for fighting a race war.<sup>190</sup> Since its founding, the network has been active in North America, Europe, South Africa, and Australia. The present transnational reach of the organization outside of the United States is unknown. The Base is influenced by the race war called for in the book Siege by neo-Nazi James Mason. The Base is an accelerationist group that encourages the onset on anarchy so it can then “impose order from chaos.”<sup>191</sup> In a September 2018 episode of the podcast The Roper Report, Base founder Roman Wolf, a.k.a. Rinaldo Nazzaro, claimed The Base’s goal is to unite white nationalists for the coming race war that will overthrow the government and reshape society.<sup>192</sup> The Base has since denied it is a neo-Nazi organization or that it promotes any specific ideology. The Base’s recruitment propaganda claims it trains its members for a “hypothetical time in the future when law & order breaks down to such an extreme degree ... that the authorities are unable or unwilling to restore it.”<sup>193</sup>

Nonetheless, The Base has described itself as a “white protection league” and has organized training camps around North America for their members in weaponry and military tactics.<sup>194</sup> Wolf has called for members to focus on non-attributable actions that destabilize society. The Base has distributed to its members manuals for lone-wolf terror attacks, bomb-making, counter-surveillance, and guerilla warfare.<sup>195</sup> In November 2019, the FBI charged Base member Richard Tobin with orchestrating the vandalism of synagogues in Michigan and Wisconsin that September. Tobin told investigators that he envisioned a nationwide campaign, which he called Operation Kristallnacht after the

The name The Base is the English translation of al-Qaeda, though it is unclear if the link was intentional as the two networks share no other similarities. The Base heavily draws inspiration from the Atomwaffen Division (AWD) and Siege, the neo-Nazi manifesto written by James Mason that inspired Atomwaffen Division. The exact relationship between AWD and The Base remains unclear beyond inspiration.<sup>197</sup> The Base's membership reportedly includes members of AWD and the far-right group Eco-Fascist Order.<sup>198</sup>

Since the public revelation of the identities of The Base's leadership and several high-profile arrests in January 2020, some U.S. media claimed U.S. authorities dismantled The Base.<sup>199</sup> Also in January 2020, federal authorities arrested three men suspected of membership in The Base who were allegedly plotting to murder a couple, supposedly affiliated with the far-left antifa movement, in Bartow County, Georgia.<sup>200</sup> That same month, three suspected Base members were arrested for allegedly stockpiling weapons and training for an assault on a pro-Second Amendment rally in Virginia, reportedly in the hopes of sparking a civil war.<sup>201</sup> In October 2020, authorities in Michigan arrested two Base members, including the group's alleged leader, accused of attempting to intimidate a podcast host in December 2019.<sup>202</sup> Despite these arrests and the revelation of following his October 2020 arrest Justen Watkins claimed he had been appointed the new leader of The Base after the arrest of the group's previous leader earlier that year.<sup>212</sup>

- Membership Size and Relevance: The Base's total membership is unknown as the group has no formal membership.<sup>213</sup> Its primary web forum reportedly has 45 members. There are also regional chat groups.<sup>214</sup> In a June 11, 2021, Telegram post, Nazzaro claimed The Base had 70 members. He also claimed The Base had a budget of $15,000.<sup>215</sup> The Canadian government designated The Base as a terrorist organization on February 3, 2021.<sup>216</sup> Nazzaro dismissed the designation as "flat-out political repression."<sup>217</sup> On July 16, 2021, the British government proscribed The Base as a terrorist organization.<sup>218</sup> On November 23, 2021, the Australian government announced its intention to designate The Base as a terrorist organization.<sup>219</sup>
- Recruitment and Propaganda: The Base's emblem is composed of three white Eihwaz symbols on a black background. The Nazis adopted the Eihwaz symbol to memorialize members who died in the 1923 beer hall uprising.<sup>220</sup> The Base's propaganda encourages membership to join a future race war. Posters displayed in Canada in 2019 brandished the slogan, "Save your Race, Join The Base."<sup>221</sup>

The Base has also used the meme-generating website iFunny to create propaganda memes and post videos, which has sparked interest from some of iFunny's users. Memes often includes emails or QR codes with which users can get in touch with a recruiter.<sup>222</sup>

The Base seeks to create two- to three-man cells around North America, Europe, Australia, and South Africa. According to founder Roman Wolf, a.k.a. Rinaldo Nazzaro,

The Base's members include National Socialists and fascists, as well as "run-of-the-mill white nationalists."<sup>223</sup> In November 2019, alleged Base leader Justen Watkins created a training camp in Bad Axe, Michigan. Photos and video of firearms training at the camp were then uploaded online to aid recruitment.<sup>224</sup> Nonetheless, Nazzaro has claimed his network was not set up to be a terrorist or neo-Nazi organization.<sup>225</sup>

The Base seeks out potential recruits with existing survivalist, self-defense, and outdoors skills.<sup>226</sup> Membership is limited to men of European descent who share The Base's political philosophy.<sup>227</sup> The Base also requires members to be at least 18 years old.<sup>228</sup> An undercover reporter for the Winnipeg Free Press underwent a "multi-tiered vetting process" that included encrypted online communication, a phone call with founder Roman Wolf, and an in-person meeting with a local representative.<sup>229</sup> In a September 2018 episode of the far-right podcast The Roper Report, Wolf claimed that the white nationalist movement is primarily based online and that needs to change. Wolf said the Base is "focused on meeting and training" in order to build a network of trainers across the country.<sup>230</sup> The Base has since begun asking potential recruits about experience in survivalism, self-defense, and the military.<sup>231</sup>

The network specifically seeks to recruit current and former members of the armed forces so that they can share their skills. Rinaldo Nazzaro, a.k.a. The Base reportedly ran a recruitment drive across Canada in 2019.<sup>235</sup> Mathews was arrested in January 2020 in Maryland alongside Brian Mark Lemley Jr. and William Garfield Bilbrough IV. Lemley previously served as a Cavalry Scout in the U.S. Army. The three were allegedly stockpiling weapons and training for an assault on a pro-Second Amendment rally in Virginia that month.<sup>236</sup> On December 8, 2020, Bilbrough pled guilty to conspiring to transport an alien and to transporting the alien, specifically, a fellow member of The Base. He was sentenced to five years in prison to be followed by three years of supervised release.<sup>237</sup> Mathews and Lemley pled guilty in June 2021 to firearms and alien-related charges.<sup>238</sup> On October 28, 2021, Mathews and Lemley were each sentenced to nine years in prison. U.S. District Judge Theodore Chuang added a "terrorism enhancement" to their sentences after concluding they intended to engage in terrorist activity.<sup>239</sup>

The Base renewed its recruitment campaign in April 2021 and claimed it had instituted new security measures to its vetting process to avoid infiltration.<sup>240</sup> According to its messaging, The Base is focused on networking and practical training, not indoctrination.

The group claims it does not have a radicalization program for recruits and expects potential members to already be radicalized.<sup>241</sup> In 2021, The Base also began holding tactical communications training courses to recognize and combat “electronic warfare.”<sup>242</sup> During the summer of 2021, The Base organized backpacking trips around Oregon.<sup>243</sup> In September 2021, The Base announced a two-day survival course to take place that November in Indiana.<sup>244</sup>

- Violent Activities: The Base has not yet claimed responsibility for violent acts, but it has organized military training camps across North America. Several members have served in the U.S. or Canadian militaries and used those skills to train other members of The Base in weaponry and combat.<sup>245</sup> Alleged Base leader Justen Watkins set up a Base training camp in Michigan in 2019.<sup>246</sup> In April 2021, founder Rinaldo Nazzaro denied that Base members ever discussed or planned attacks. He accused media organizations like Vice and non-government organizations of misrepresenting The Base.<sup>247</sup>
  - In November 2019, federal authorities accused Base member Richard Tobin of orchestrating the vandalism of two synagogues earlier in the year. Tobin also admitted to plotting a violent attack against black shoppers at a New Jersey mall. Tobin did not follow through with the attack. He told authorities after his arrest that he had contemplated “suicide by cop,” insinuating that he planned to die while carrying out a future attack.<sup>248</sup>
  - In December 2019, alleged members Justen Watkins and Alfred Gorman dressed in skull masks and took pictures outside a home in Dexter, Michigan, which they thought belonged to anti-far right podcast host Daniel Harper. They then uploaded the photos to a Base Telegram channel and threatened Harper, who had been critical of The Base on his podcast. In fact, the home belonged to an unrelated family. Watkins and Gorman were arrested in October 2020 for attempting to intimidate Harper.<sup>249</sup> Watkins was released on bail in February 2021 while

- In January 2020, federal authorities arrested suspected Base members Luke Lane, Jacob Kaderli, and Michael Helterbrand for allegedly plotting to murder a couple, supposedly affiliated with the far-left antifa movement, in Bartow County, Georgia. All three pled guilty. In November 2021, Lane was sentenced to 30 years with a minimum of 13 years in prison on charges of conspiracy to commit murder and participation in gang activity charges. Kaderli was sentenced to 25 years with six in prison under the First Offender Act with the stipulation if he completes 10 years of probation the remainder of the sentence will be commuted. ### Hammerskin Nation (a.k.a. Hammerskins)

- Summary: Hammerskin Nation (a.k.a. Hammerskins) was reportedly the largest, most organized, and most violent neo-Nazi skinhead gang in the United States as of 2018.<sup>270</sup> The group launched in 1988 and has since spread internationally.<sup>271</sup> Hammerskins have been arrested on charges of murder, assault, arson, vandalism, harassment, and other hate crimes.

The Hammerskin movement grew out of the skinhead punk music scene in the 1980s. The first Hammerskin chapter launched in Dallas, Texas, in 1988 as the Confederate Hammerskins. In 1990, the group created its first international chapters in Northern Ireland and Switzerland. Australian and Canadian chapters emerged in 1993. In 1994, the various regional Hammerskin chapters united under the single banner of Hammerskin Nation. The Hammerskins reinstated their regional system in 1999 while maintaining the international umbrella.<sup>272</sup>

The Hammerskins’ website and its online forums reportedly shut down in 2001 under unclear circumstances. Shortly after, noted white supremacist Tom Metzger declared there was no longer an official Hammerskin Nation.<sup>273</sup> Nevertheless, a site declaring itself the official Hammerskin Nation site went online in 2002.<sup>274</sup> The site remained active as of October 2018, though its online forums were inoperable.<sup>275</sup> The site was inactive as of April 2020.<sup>276</sup> Despite the diminished online presence, the Hammerskins remain active. In his 2018 book Everything You Love Will Burn, journalist Vegas Tenold reported on Hammerskin activities in 2016 and the group's relations with other white supremacist organizations.<sup>277</sup> The Hammerskins also continue to organize and promote the annual Hammerfest white power music concert. The group held Hammerfest in October 2018 in California<sup>278</sup> and in November 2019 in western Europe.<sup>279</sup> In October 2019, the Southern Cross Hammerskins and Blood & Honour Australia intended to hold the annual Hammered Music Festival in Melbourne, Australia, but reportedly canceled the plans at the last minute. Anti-hate groups had asked the government to stop the concert, but it was permitted on free-speech grounds. The reason for the cancelation is not known.<sup>280</sup>

- Base of Operations: The first Hammerskins chapter emerged in Dallas, Texas, but the group has no centralized global base of operations. As of October 12, 2018, the Hammerskins' website listed six U.S. chapters divided by region: West, Northwest, Midland, Confederate, Northern, and Eastern. Additionally, the group maintains chapters in Australia, Canada, France, Germany, Hungary, Italy, New Zealand, Portugal, Spain, Sweden, Luxembourg, and Switzerland.<sup>281</sup>

membership numbers, but it was reportedly the largest neo-Nazi skinhead gang in the United States as of 2018.<sup>284</sup>

- Recruitment and Propaganda: Prospective Hammerskin members are vetted through multiple stages. First, they become what journalist Vegas Tenold called “hang-arounds,” following members of a Hammerskin chapter but without any status in the group. If members approve of a hang-around’s behavior, he or she receives a probationary membership in Crew 38, a Hammerskin support network. After proving their loyalty, the prospective member is then offered membership in the Hammerskins. The process can last years before a member advances to the main group.<sup>285</sup>

White power music remains the Hammerskins’ primary recruitment method. The Hammerskins host the annual Hammerfest music festival to celebrate the genre of white power music.<sup>286</sup> The group held the first Hammerfest in 1999.<sup>287</sup> Bands that have performed at Hammerfest include Beer Hall Putsch and Definite Hate, which previously included Wade Michael Page, who attacked a Sikh temple in 2012.<sup>288</sup> Then-Traditionalist Worker Party leader Matthew Heimbach spoke at the 2016 Hammerfest, praising the Hammerskins as “an example for all Nationalists.”<sup>289</sup> White supremacist record label Antipathy Records previously maintained a “Hammerskin Gear” section on its website.<sup>290</sup>

The Hammerskins promote the numeral 14 based on the 14-word white supremacist motto: “We must secure the existence of our people and a future for White Children.”<sup>291</sup> The movement is also represented by the number 838, which corresponds to the letters H, C, H, an acronym of the Hammerskin motto, “Hail the Crossed Hammers.” The motto is a reference to the Hammerskin flag, which portrays two crossed hammers. The symbol is

Military personnel told Reuters in 2012 that white nationalists are dedicated to the military training because they want to learn weaponry and combat skills.<sup>295</sup> Hammerskin Nation as an organization has not orchestrated violent activities. Nonetheless, Hammerskin members have been involved in numerous violent acts. Further, there have been multiple reports of Hammerskin members engaging each other in physical altercations during Hammerskin events.<sup>296</sup>
  - On November 8, 2016, Portuguese police arrested 20 Hammerskins across the country on suspicion of involvement in a series of violent hate crimes in Portugal between 2013 and 2015.<sup>297</sup>
  - On July 10, 2015, police in East Windsor, New Jersey, arrested Richard Pearson on charges of maintaining a drug manufacturing facility, aggravated arson, theft and destruction of evidence. Pearson had multiple previous convictions in Florida and Massachusetts on charges of attempted murder, aggravated assault, home invasion, bias crimes, and bail jumping. Prosecutors have accused Pearson of affiliation with the Hammerskins.<sup>298</sup>
  - On March 18, 2015, skinhead Ryan Giroux shot dead one person and wounded six others in an hours-long ordeal that began outside a motel in Mesa, Arizona. He then carjacked a vehicle and traveled to a condominium complex where he was arrested by a SWAT team. A retired Mesa police detective familiar with Giroux identified him as a member of the Hammerskins. Giroux pled guilty to first-degree murder and 22 other charges. In prison, he read the works of former KKK leader David Duke and racial scientist J. Philippe Rushton.<sup>316</sup> Damigo has spoken publicly alongside white nationalist Richard Spencer. Identity Evropa largely targeted college students and viewed protests like the August 2017 Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia, as recruitment drives.<sup>317</sup>

Eli Mosley, who took over Identity Evropa from Damigo in late August 2017, played a key role in organizing the Unite the Right rally earlier that month in Charlottesville. Encouraged by the perceived success of the rally, Mosley told the media that he planned to organize many more rallies for Identity Evropa.<sup>318</sup> In early December 2017, Mosley resigned and Patrick Casey, a.k.a. Reinhard Wolff, became the group's new CEO. Casey reportedly wanted to distance Identity Evropa from the negative coverage of the Charlottesville rally through more private, invitation-only events rather than large gatherings like Unite the Right. Casey called for more public banner displays and more demonstrations on college campuses, as well as at meet-ups, fitness clubs, and similar communal events.<sup>319</sup> Identity Evropa joined a November 2018 lawsuit against the city of Charlottesville claiming city officials violated their rights by not allowing the rally to go forward. Identity Evropa dropped out of the lawsuit the following month. The National Socialist Movement, Traditionalist Worker Party, and rally organizer Jason Kessler remained on the lawsuit.<sup>320</sup>

In March 2019, Identity Evropa’s leaders simultaneously announced the organization’s closure and the creation of AIM. Casey said in a press release that Identity Evropa was “held down by baggage accumulated before my tenure.”<sup>321</sup> This is likely a reference to Identity Evropa’s linkage with the Unite the Right rally, from which Casey had previously sought to distance the group. Further, a series of racist and antisemitic Identity Evropa private chat messages leaked from the online chat server Discord earlier that March.<sup>322</sup> Casey claimed on Twitter that the brand change had been planned for months and had nothing to do with the leaked messages. According to Casey, Identity Evropa focused solely on the promotion of white identity but AIM would expand its focus through a “holistic approach” that would include identitarianism, non-interventionism, nationalism, protectionism, and populism.<sup>323</sup> Casey and AIM have sought to disavow Identity Evropa and “the decisions of former leaders and members,” claiming that Casey had no leadership role in the organization during Charlottesville.<sup>324</sup>

AIM announced that it would phase out Identity Evropa’s web presence and create its own.<sup>325</sup> AIM claims to be “a growing, active movement defending our nation against mass immigration and the scourge of globalism.”<sup>326</sup> AIM further claims that it seeks “peaceful, visible action” and the “restoration of American identity.”<sup>327</sup> The group held an inaugural conference in Nashville, Tennessee, on March 9, 2019.<sup>328</sup> The following day, almost 100 AIM members rallied at the State Capitol in Nashville in the group’s inaugural protest.<sup>329</sup>

On November 2, 2020, Casey posted on AIM’s website that the group had disbanded as it had “reached the limit of what a dissident membership organization can realistically achieve in these turbulent, repressive times.”<sup>330</sup> Casey called the “dissident right” more necessary than ever, but a “membership organization model is simply not the vehicle that

AIM claimed it drew almost 100 people to its inaugural rally at the State Capitol in Nashville, Tennessee, on March 10, 2019.<sup>348</sup>

- Recruitment and Propaganda: Identity Evropa focused its propaganda and recruitment efforts primarily on university campuses, where it sought to start student groups. In 2017, Identity Evropa propaganda appeared on more than 30 college campuses.<sup>349</sup> The group's membership form invites those U.S. residents "of European, non-Semitic heritage" to join its ranks. Applicants "ready to make a real difference for the future of our people" are interviewed over video conference call.<sup>350</sup> The group used as its logo an old European design of a dragon's eye with a "Y" inside, which it claims represents the choice between good and evil.<sup>351</sup>

AIM portrayed itself as a patriotic American organization that sought to protect the American cultural identity. The group's language in its propaganda specifically promoted American nationalism and referenced ideas such as "the preservation of America's historical demographics in the face of mass immigration" and protecting "American industry and workers, rather than benefit globalist interests."<sup>352</sup> AIM adopted patriotic colors and symbolism in its propaganda. Its logo featured a bald eagle and shield decorated with stars colored in red, white, and blue. AIM created flyers and shirts with its logo and other imagery reminiscent of U.S. propaganda during World War II.<sup>353</sup> AIM's language was couched in patriotism. It used slogans such as "Defend America!" to promote its anti-immigration positions. The group proudly displayed American flags to give the illusion that they were supporting the country rather than xenophobia.<sup>354</sup> AIM claimed to reject extremism, political violence, and all forms of supremacy in favor of "peacefully and lawfully" effecting change through activism and popular protest.<sup>355</sup> Despite its claims of rejecting supremacy, AIM's rhetoric firmly supported the preservation of what it considers to be the white identity of America.<sup>356</sup>

AIM accepted donations through various cryptocurrencies as well as checks and money orders sent to its Virginia headquarters.<sup>357</sup> AIM created a merchandise section on its website selling flags, shirts, mugs, and literature. Like AIM's donations page, the shop prefers cash, check, or money orders.<sup>358</sup>

AIM also allegedly attempted to use fake Twitter accounts to promote hate toward the group's ideological opponents. Following the death of black man George Floyd by a white police officer in Minnesota in May 2020, protests spread across the United States and often devolved into violent riots. In late May, a Twitter account called @ANTIFA_US called for further violence. The account claimed to belong to a national organization representing the far left antifa movement, which U.S. President Donald Trump declared should be designated as a terrorist organization for instigating violence during the protests. The Twitter account released tweets such as "Tonight we say 'F--- The City' and we move into the residential areas... the white hoods.... and we take what's ours..." Twitter suspended the account after it called for violence, but an investigation by Twitter found that the account was actually linked to AIM, not antifa, in an attempt to sow further public division and opposition to antifa. Though Identity Evropa transitioned to AIM in 2019, Twitter specifically linked the fraudulent account to Identity Evropa. According to Twitter, the account violated the platform's policy against platform manipulation and spam.<sup>359</sup> Twitter had previously suspended both AIM and Identity

League of the South

- Summary: Created in 1994, the League of the South is a self-proclaimed “neo-Confederate” group that seeks a second Southern secession and a society dominated by “European Americans.”<sup>375</sup> The League advocates the transformation of southern U.S. states into independent nations in order to protect Southerners of European descent who are “committed to preserving the traditional culture of the South.”<sup>376</sup> The group promotes itself as pro-South and pro-white, and has levied hateful rhetoric against non-Christians and African Americans, among other minorities. The League further claims that it is not a racist organization, as it deems the word “racist” to be “a slur used by anti-Whites.” Instead, the group argues it is “pro-South and pro-White.”<sup>377</sup>

The League of the South has warned supporters about the loss of white, Christian culture in America due to what the group calls the “corrupt and corrupting influence of post-Christian culture in America.”<sup>378</sup> In August 2019, League founder and leader Michael Hill declared that America is in the early stages of a “war for white survival.”<sup>379</sup> He has written that the “Jew-dominated media” and “Jew-dominated White House” condemn any white person who defends himself as a white supremacist.<sup>380</sup> During the League’s June 2017 national conference in Alabama, former KKK leader David Duke said that there has been a “purposeful destruction of our country” and praised the League’s “glorious leader,” Michael Hill.<sup>381</sup>

The League and its founder, Hill, are vehemently antisemitic. Hill has singled out Jews as the international puppeteers behind communism,<sup>382</sup> multiculturalism and Third World immigration,<sup>383</sup> and a global agenda to weaken and eventually destroy the white race.<sup>384</sup> According to Hill, “the Jew has used every means at hand to foster anti-White hatred and malice in the minds of non-Whites,” including “the steady increase across the decades of violent black-on-White crime” to create “a actual physical war against Whiteness.”<sup>385</sup>

In February 2017, the League of the South created the Southern Defense Force to “combat this growing leftist menace to our historic Christian civilization.” League of the South founder Michael Hill noted that the League does not promote violence except in “self-defense of life, liberty, and property,” but has called on followers to stand ready by building their firearms and hand-to-hand combat skills. Though Hill officially disavowed the use of violence in an offensive capacity, his inflammatory rhetoric threatens to inspire others to violence, as Hill makes vague and provocative statements such as the assertion that whites will “not only fight back, but relish doing so!”<sup>386</sup>

On November 23, 2021, a U.S. District Court in Charlottesville found Hill and other organizers of the Unite the Right rally liable in a civil suit that alleged they were responsible for injuries to counter-protesters. The jury was unable to reach a verdict on two federal conspiracy charges. The two dozen defendants in the lawsuit included Matthew Heimbach, Richard Spencer, event organizer Jason Kessler, and neo-Nazi podcaster Christopher Cantwell, among others. The jury awarded plaintiffs more than $25 million in damages.<sup>387</sup> In a June 5, 2017, message to Vanguard America commander Dillon Hopper, Heimbach referred to the two of them, National Socialist Movement leader Jeff Schoep, and League of the South leader Michael Hill as the leadership of the far right. Heimbach said the Charlottesville rally would bring them together with other

- Leadership: Michael Hill is the League of the South’s founder and president.<sup>392</sup>
- Membership Size and Relevance: The League of the South claims to maintain chapters in 16 states across the United States.<sup>393</sup> The group’s membership has significantly increased since its founding in 1994. By 1998, the League of the South claimed to have recruited 4,000 members. By 2000, it reportedly had roughly 9,000 members, and in the early 2000s, that number allegedly grew to 15,000 members nationwide. In 2009, Michael Hill claimed that his organization had 25,000 members, but far-right watchdog groups doubted the veracity of this claim.<sup>394</sup> As of August 25, 2017, more than 7,500 people followed the League of the South’s Facebook page, which has since been suspended.<sup>395</sup> The group’s main YouTube channel had received more than 50,000 views as of April 2, 2018.<sup>396</sup> The page has since been suspended. The YouTube and Facebook pages of individual League of the South chapters remain active.

In the mid-2000s, the League of the South splintered as many group leaders defected over Hill’s increasingly overt racism. However, the group has adapted to internal fissures by mobilizing new followers around mainstream political issues such as immigration and “traditional marriage.”<sup>397</sup>

- Recruitment and Propaganda: The League of the South appeals to Southern pride and nationalism by propagandizing that the Southern way of life is under threat. Those who join the group are told that they are joining “a group of Southern Nationalist men and women who are not content to sit by and allow their land, liberty, and culture be destroyed by an alien regime and ideology.”<sup>398</sup> The League of the South offers membership rates ranging from $30 for students to $1,000 for “sustaining” members.<sup>399</sup> To spread its propaganda, the League maintains a social-media presence through Facebook and YouTube. It also hosts annual conferences and distributes newsletters. The League has also set up an online store to sell uniforms, shirts, baby clothes, mugs, totes, and other merchandise brandishing the group’s name and logo. The store is hosted by the League’s Florida chapter through a WordPress website.<sup>400</sup>

The League of the South also provides multilingual international editions of its propaganda in Chinese, Hungarian, and Russian.<sup>401</sup>

- Violent Activities: At least one member of the League of the South has been linked to political violence and domestic terrorism plots.
  - In 2004, police arrested Michael Tubbs, a leading activist in Florida and former soldier, and found several caches of arms and explosives along with a target list that included newspapers, television stations, and Jewish-owned businesses.<sup>402</sup> After his arrest, news outlets discovered that Tubbs had a history of violence and had robbed fellow soldiers at gunpoint. Despite the arrest, Michael Hill and other leaders allowed Tubbs to remain a member.<sup>403</sup>
- Rhetoric:
  - Michael Hill, testimony in a civil trial regarding the 2017 Unite the Right rally, November 2021: “I pledge to be a white supremacist, racist, antisemite, homophobe, a xenophobe, an Islamophobe and any other sort of phobe that benefits my people, so help me God. ## COUNTER EXTREMISM PROJECT

- Michael Hill, blog post, August 26, 2021: “The USA is now a global laughingstock and its days are literally numbered. The Southern states should move immediately to get off this sinking ship before it goes under. We encourage our elected officials on the state and local government levels to begin the process of devolution as soon as possible. Our civilization’s survival will depend on how our people handle this deepening crisis. We can start by preparing ourselves, our families, and our local communities and our states for self-sufficiency, self-protection, and self-government. The day has come for the secession and independence of the Southern states. It is now both necessary and desirable.”<sup>406</sup>
- Michael Hill, blog post, January 29, 2021: “The League of the South, the premier Southern nationalist organization (1994-present), stands with the Southern people (and other good Americans) against the incipient communist regime that is now in power in Washington, DC. This regime has unequivocally determined that ‘we, the people’—the White middle- and working-class—is the enemy, declaring us to be nothing less than ‘domestic terrorists.’”<sup>407</sup>
- Michael Hill, blog post, December 9, 2020: “The current election debacle is raging proof that we in The League have been right all along: Secession is preferable to living in a fraudulent system.

“Therefore, we call on all the states that voted for Donald Trump to separate themselves from the states that legitimately voted for Joe Biden. As political bodies, we have nothing in common. A commonly-agreed-upon divorce would be the peaceful way of settling a situation that otherwise can only end in bloody conflict. But if the left insists, then we will do whatever is necessary to protect the ancient liberties given us by our honorable ancestors.”<sup>408</sup>

- Michael Hill, blog post, August 28, 2020: “If one largely untrained, but skilled, 17-year-old young White man can cause this much fear & angst among BLM/Antifa and their supporters, think what 1,000 trained, skilled, experienced, and dedicated White men could accomplish. Maybe that’s coming together right now, who knows? If that’s what it takes to preserve our lives, liberties, and property—our civilization—then let it be.”<sup>409</sup>
- Michael Hill, blog post, June 1, 2020: “International Jewry has continually pushed for non-White ‘civil rights’ in tandem with open-border, Third World immigration. The target was the White Man—America—for there would be no America as we know it without the White Man.”<sup>410</sup>

- Michael Hill, blog post, June 1, 2020: “Over the last half century, the Jew has used every means at hand to foster anti-White hatred and malice in the minds of non-Whites. Slowly, as exemplified by the steady increase across the decades of violent black-on-White crime, there unfolded an actual physical war against Whiteness. Attacks on Whites have been justified in the Jew lügenpresse because of slavery, Jim Crow, institutionalized ‘racism,’ etc. Whites are evil oppressors; non-Whites (including the poor Jews, of course) are perpetual victims. And the hatred runs very deep.”<sup>411</sup>
- Michael Hill, blog post, June 1, 2020: “Seeing that Whites have no champion in government and that they are literally on their own, the Jew has moved his New Red Terror into a fresh, and perhaps final, stage: the Final Solution of the White Problem. I said years ago that the US, if Whites did not take a firm stand, would devolve into Rhodesia/South Africa. That day seems now at hand. If non-Whites can riot, loot, burn cities, and assault and kill people with impunity, why do you think you’ll be safe in your little neighborhood? Do you think they’ll send in heavily-armed troops to protect you when they won’t even fire a shot in defense of their own police stations and city buildings? White will and resistance is what the Jew is now testing.”<sup>412</sup>
- Michael Hill, blog post, May 26, 2020: “The following article is very important to understanding what anti-White Jews are up to regarding their plans for 2020. In essence, they have launched an all-out attack against Southern/White nationalists using every trick in their satanic book. Fight back and don’t let them win!”<sup>413</sup>
- Michael Hill, blog post, February 21, 2020: “Because Jews control the media, there is no danger of ‘Hunters’ being de-platformed as ‘hate.’ In fact, those who speak out against this crude piece of vile anti-White propaganda are the ones likely to lose access to social media, among other things.”<sup>414</sup>
- Michael Hill, blog post, February 21, 2020: “Having studied Jew behavior for many years, I can say with assurance that there is not another group more hypocritical nor prone to telling lies. After all, Christ Himself called them liars and children of the father of lies (Satan) in John 8:44. Their modus operandi for the last 2000 years has been to play the victim, accusing their enemies (chiefly White Christians) of doing to them (Jews) what they themselves plan on doing to Whites.”<sup>415</sup>
- Michael Hill, blog post, February 21, 2020: “The Holocaust, the world’s biggest and most lucrative con game, has become a religion in the West, Auschwitz taking the place of Calvary and the eternally-victimized Jew taking the place of Christ. - Michael Hill, blog post, August 21, 2019: “Historically, Jews have propagated virulent anti-White and anti-Christian ideas.”<sup>417</sup>
- Michael Hill, blog post, August 21, 2019: “The biggest temporal threat to Jew world hegemony, and hence the primary target for their ‘culture of critique,’ is a resurgence of nationalism among Whites, especially White Christians, and especially in the American South. Blood and soil nationalism, meaning an organic system in which a racially- and culturally-distinct people inhabit a certain geographical territory and seek their own particular interests to the exclusion of other ‘out groups’ (especially Jews and other non-Whites) is anathema to the international Jew . . . except when it comes to the ethno-nationalist state of Israel.”<sup>418</sup>

National Socialist Movement

Summary: The National Socialist Movement (NSM) is a prominent neo-Nazi group that has directed extremist, incendiary rhetoric toward Jews and other minorities while supporting violence in pursuit of its political goal of "the union of all Whites into a greater America on the basis of the right of national self-determination."<sup>426</sup> The Southern Poverty Law Center identifies the NSM as the largest neo-Nazi movement in the United States.<sup>427</sup> The NSM bills itself as "America's premier white civil rights organization."<sup>428</sup> Though the NSM officially rejects violence, the group has declared its intention to defend itself.<sup>429</sup> The NSM acknowledges that Adolf Hitler created Nazism in Germany, but believes that it can be applied anywhere. The movement believes society promotes a "big lie" of equality among the races, and "the White Race" is "the most advanced and progress producing race on earth." The NSM believes that the white race faces extinction through race mixing as well as violence. To that end, the NSM calls for street

- Leadership: Commander Jeff Schoep was NSM's founder and national director. Other prominent leaders include Captain Brian Culpepper, public relations, and Captain Butch Urban, chief of staff.<sup>436</sup> Black activist James Stern took over leadership of the NSM in February 2019.<sup>437</sup> The following month, Schoep issued a press release that Stern had no affiliation with NSM and Schoep had appointed former chief of staff Burt Colucci as the group's new commander.<sup>438</sup> Colucci launched a legal battle for control of the NSM and its website. Stern died of cancer in October 2019, leaving the group's future uncertain.<sup>439</sup> In addition to Colucci's role as party leader/commander, NSM claims Butch Urban is its chief of staff and Harry Hughes is head of its public relations department. - Membership Size and Relevance: NSM reportedly had 40 dues-paying members nationwide as of 2018, according to former outreach coordinator Matthew Heimbach.<sup>441</sup> NSM's total nationwide membership is unknown. As of 2018, the group had 61 local chapters in 35 states and was the largest neo-Nazi group in America.<sup>442</sup> The group also claims to have chapters in the United Kingdom, Italy, Estonia, New Zealand, and Sweden, with a new chapter planned in South Africa.<sup>443</sup> On YouTube, the group had 1,020 subscribers and 149 videos as of January 2, 2018, but has since been suspended.<sup>444</sup>

In 2016, NSM leader Jeff Schoep created a national far-right alliance called the Aryan Nationalist Alliance (ANA), which included neo-Nazis, racist skinheads, and Klansmen. Schoep saw the alliance as an opportunity for NSM to gain more acceptance among the far right.<sup>445</sup> The Traditionalist Worker Party joined the coalition that November and ANA rebranded as the Nationalist Front. The League of the South joined the Nationalist Front in April 2017. The Nationalist Front has since held several rallies across the United States, attracting a few dozen supporters at each event. The Nationalist Front calls for the creation of separate, independent ethnostates in North America for each racial group.<sup>446</sup> TWP collapsed in March 2018 and League of the South pulled out of the Nationalist Front shortly after, leaving the coalition's future in doubt.<sup>447</sup>

In April 2021, NSM launched a new version of its website and a podcast called NSM Radio.<sup>448</sup> The group intended to host a national conference in Arizona later that month to teach how to “address violent Antifa scum, one protest event at a time.”<sup>449</sup>

- Recruitment and Propaganda: The NSM's main goal is derived from the white supremacist 14 Words mantra to “secure the existence of our people and a future for

White children.”<sup>450</sup> NSM’s 25 Points of American National Socialism” manifesto also contains antisemitic rhetoric and insists that NSM’s process of nationalization will “remove the Jewish, internationalist, and capitalist stranglehold on information and resources and put these to work for the benefit of the nation and people, not international stockholders or Jewish oligarchs.”<sup>451</sup>

The NSM’s manifesto, “25 Points of American National Socialism,” details the hate group’s goal of securing “freedom for the White population of North America through the principle of self-determination.”<sup>452</sup> The manifesto calls for an end to all immigration to the United States and a series of economic changes, including the dissolution and nationalization of corporations. The manifesto also calls for the abolishment of the U.S. healthcare system and replacing it with universal healthcare. At the same time, the manifesto is peppered with racist and antisemitic language blaming immigrants, non-whites, and Jews for societal and political problems in the United States.<sup>453</sup>

The NSM requires its members to be at least 18 years old, but it also maintains a youth wing called the Viking Youth Corps for children between the ages of 14 and 17. The program is open to children of NSM members who are of pure European descent. The NSM refuses membership to children with Jewish or mixed-race bloodlines.<sup>454</sup> The NSM previously used the swastika as its symbol, believing that it represents the white race just as the Star of David represents Jews.<sup>455</sup> The NSM also publishes a print and online magazine of the same name.<sup>456</sup>

In November 2016, the NSM abandoned the swastika as its symbol. It instead adopted a pre-Roman alphabet symbol that had also been used by the Nazis. According to Schoep, the move was “an attempt to become more integrated and more mainstream.”<sup>457</sup> In September 2018, former Traditionalist Worker Party leader Matthew Heimbach joined the NSM as its community outreach director.<sup>458</sup> Heimbach later renounced white nationalism in April 2020, a few months after Schoep.<sup>459</sup> The NSM claims it does not use the swastika because the German Nazi party is but one of its sources of inspiration. The NSM points to Golden Dawn in Greece, the Nordic Resistance Movement in Scandinavia, and other modern fascist movements, in addition to other geographically specific fascist movements that all used their own symbols. As such, the NSM says it relies on its own symbology to represent the group rather than the swastika.<sup>460</sup> Nonetheless, the swastika still appears on the NSM website and the NSM continues to carry swastika banners during protests.<sup>461</sup>

An NSM memo on social media calls on members to use the encrypted Signal app and Protonmail for communications with each other and all white nationalists. The memo also calls on members to avoid public arguments with other white nationalists and reiterates the organization's opposition to violence except in self-defense.<sup>462</sup>

- Violent Activities: NSM officially disavows violent tactics.<sup>463</sup> Nonetheless, NSM members have been involved in violent activities.
  - On April 20, 2021, while in Arizona for an NSM rally in Phoenix, NSM leader Burt Colucci was arrested outside a hotel in Chandler for threatening a group of Black men with a gun after he placed trash on their car. Colucci claimed he only readied his pistol, while the Black men said he threatened to kill them. Colucci was released on a $7,500 bond and allowed to return to his home in Florida, though he had to return to Arizona for future hearings. The NSM began raising money on its website to pay for Colucci's legal fees, including $20,000 for a lawyer and $5,000 for an investigator.<sup>464</sup>
  - On October 23, 2017, NSM member Taylor Michael Wilson disabled the engine and internal lights of an Amtrak train traveling through Nebraska. Wilson was carrying a bag with a handgun, ammunition, a knife, a gas mask, a hammer, and NSM ID cards. Crew members subdued Wilson in the engine room. Investigators searching Wilson's Missouri home in December 2017 found Nazi propaganda and unregistered firearms. A search of Wilson's emails revealed he had purchased a ticket to Syria in order to join ISIS the previous year. Wilson told a cellmate that he had taken acid prior to boarding the Amtrak train and wanted to "save the train from black people."<sup>465</sup> Wilson pled guilty in July 2018 and was sentenced to 14 years in prison that October. He claimed that he was high on acid and did not intend to hurt anybody.<sup>466</sup>

- Rhetoric:
  - Fun Facts about White People!, NSM website, undated: "White people are unarguably the most beautiful and most physically attractive humans on earth. I can honestly understand the extreme jealousy of Blacks, with their genetically primitive, prognathous, distinctly ape-form faces, as Black ... simply ... is ... not ... beautiful! On this point I imagine, everyone secretly agrees. Whites are also the nicest, most polite and most enjoyable people to be around. Whenever a non-White obtains wealth, what's the first thing he does? He finds a White wife and moves into a White neighborhood! But that does not mean being White is in any way boring or bland, nor is it somehow lacking, as those on the left would like for you to believe. In fact, White people are actually the most genetically diverse of all the races, in relation to pigment genes, making White people the TRUE people of color. It's true! Whites do share the lightest color of skin, various shades from light olive to white, based upon sun exposure, but Whites also have the greatest color diversity with relation to hair and eyes, of any race."<sup>468</sup>
  - "Behavioral characteristics common in Black people," NSM website, undated: "One of the most notable and detrimental behavioral characteristic of American Blacks, is a near or total lack of empathy. In response to another person's feelings, they may come across as cold, unfeeling, callous, overly critical, or harsh. Most of us have observed countless times, where Black people never feel any remorse for anything they've said or done, even if it caused a great deal of pain and suffering. Black people don't seem to realize how harmful their actions are. It seems as though they simply don't care that their actions might hurt others."<sup>469</sup>

COUNTER EXTREMISM PROJECT

- NSM Frequently Asked Questions: “The first step is to awaken White people the world over to their own racial identity and to give them a profound appreciation of who they are. This is a huge undertaking! But it must be done and the NSM is doing everything in its power to do it! Conducting street demonstrations, marches and public rallies are all great ways to awaken and enable our racial family.”<sup>470</sup>
- NSM Frequently Asked Questions: “In the U.S. we’ve suffered under a false economy since the establishment of the unconstitutional Federal Reserve. Under this Jew infected system, the Jews and bankers charge the U.S. for its own money through interest! Under the NSM we will abolish the Federal Reserve and have our money based on the quality of the goods produced by the nation.”<sup>471</sup>
- NSM Frequently Asked Questions: The unnatural power of the Jews desperately needs to be broken. Through dedication and lots of hard work, the National Socialist Movement will bring us to victory! Due to the uncompromising nature and reason based principles of National Socialism, it is ONLY National Socialism that will succeed! When it is a fight for the very existence of our People and a future for White children, there is no other alternative! Victory or death!!!”<sup>472</sup>
- Jeff Schoep: “When ... you take a German Shepherd and mix him with a Golden Retriever you have a worthless animal that nobody wants and that isn’t worth anything if you’re trying to breed him or sell him. ... [T]hese degenerates that allow their children to race mix and this sort of thing, they’re destroying the bloodlines of both races.”<sup>473</sup>
- JT Ready, June 15, 2000: “I do not see the niggers, homosexuals, mexicans, jews, or even child molesters ashamed or afraid to speak their minds and rally, march, post, and be activists for their sick cause. And too many brave men and women died to give me the chance to fight now. I will honor their blood and fight for soil.”<sup>474</sup>

Massachusetts and comprises small independent cells around the world.<sup>476</sup> NSC members believe they are in a state of war against non-Aryans, particularly Jews.<sup>477</sup> NSC's alleged goal is to create an underground resistance network against its ideological enemies.<sup>478</sup> To this end, NSC members train in physical combat and firearms.<sup>479</sup> NSC views itself as a protector of white people.<sup>480</sup>

NSC chapters act independently of each other and share a loose network affiliation. The group has no central hierarchy. Each chapter acts under its own guidance and rules.<sup>481</sup> NSC maintains this informal structure to avoid infiltration. Chapter autonomy also allows each chapter to address individual regional needs and develop its own tactics.<sup>482</sup> Known NSC tactics include antagonizing social-justice protesters, vandalism, and posting stickers and other propaganda.<sup>483</sup> NSC members have joined right-wing and pro-police rallies across the country where they have displayed Nazi flags and symbols, as well as engaged in physical altercations.<sup>484</sup> In December 2020, NSC New England announced it was ending communication with all other NSC chapters to focus on the New England region. The announcement confirmed all other NSC chapters would continue autonomously.<sup>485</sup> In June 2021, NSC began operating under the name White Defense Force after several of its online accounts were banned. The group continues to employ the NSC name while using White Defense Force for online accounts.<sup>486</sup>

- Recruitment and Propaganda: Clad in black t-shirts emblazoned with “Nationalist Social Club,” NSC members have been photographed at right-wing and pro-police rallies across the country, though they promote their own anti-police ideology. Men wearing NSC shirts have also counter-protested liberal causes such as Black Lives Matter.<sup>493</sup> Members have pasted NSC stickers and other propaganda materials on public and private property.<sup>494</sup> NSC members have also vandalized Black Lives Matter murals and memorials to Breonna Taylor, George Floyd, and Martin Luther King Jr.<sup>495</sup> In May 2021, NSC participated in White Lives Matter rallies in New Hampshire and Rhode Island.<sup>496</sup>

NSC's logo replaces the "S" in its initials with an SS lightning bolt. NSC's propaganda also includes the number 131 and at times refers to the group as NSC-131 or 131 Crew. The number correlates to the letters ACA for anti-communist action.<sup>497</sup>

NSC is active on multiple social media channels, such as Twitter, Telegram, and Instagram. CEP has identified at least three NSC Twitter accounts that have since been suspended. NSC's Telegram channels provide a contact person who refers potential recruits to their closest NSC chapter. Each chapter has its own objectives upon which it judges potential members.<sup>498</sup> In August 2021, NSC launched a new website after claiming its other social media and online accounts had been banned.<sup>499</sup> The new site acts as an umbrella for NSC's New England chapters in Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, and Maine.<sup>500</sup> NSC specifically targets white males for recruitment.<sup>501</sup>

In June 2021, Google Play and Apple's App Store deleted multiple NSC communications channels. In response, NSC created a new series of accounts under the name White Defense Force to further recruitment. The group also created a channel on LinkTree, which has since been deleted for violating the site's terms of service.<sup>502</sup>

- Violent Activities: NSC members have stockpiled weapons and undergone physical training for future confrontations.<sup>503</sup> In September 2020, German police raided multiple homes, including that of an NSC member, and seized "weapons and Nazi paraphernalia."<sup>504</sup>
  - January 6, 2021: NSC members post pictures of NSC paraphernalia on Telegram, claiming that they were taken at a protest at the Capitol Building in Washington, D.C., during Congress' confirmation of the 2020 presidential election. The protest, which included thousands of people in attendance, devolved into a violent riot as protesters stormed into the Capitol Building, sending Congress into lockdown and leaving at least four people dead.<sup>505</sup> club of the Alt-Right.”<sup>517</sup> RAM co-founder Robert Rundo said he and Ben Daley founded RAM because they did not see a place for themselves in the far-right movement at the time, condemning the alt-right movement for “playing dress-up.”<sup>518</sup> According to Rundo, they wanted a group that would reach beyond online forums. He looked to European groups such as Generation Identity that were doing banner drops, demonstrations, and physical training.<sup>519</sup> RAM members have engaged in violence at multiple rallies since 2017, including that year’s the Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia.<sup>520</sup>

RAM claims it wants to revive the “warrior spirit” of the white male.<sup>521</sup> MMA and athleticism are central focuses of RAM. According to Rundo, RAM began as an athletics club.<sup>522</sup> Members train in MMA and boxing. They then use these skills in violent confrontations.<sup>523</sup> In early 2018, RAM members traveled to Europe to participate in MMA tournaments organized by neo-Nazi groups in Germany and Ukraine.<sup>524</sup> RAM chapters have organized as individual “active clubs” in the style of boxing clubs and neighborhood gyms from the early 20th century. According to Rundo, RAM chapters fill a need for boys to learn masculine skills to become men, as groups such as the Boy Scouts and youth gyms have either abrogated their duties or been overrun by minorities.<sup>525</sup>

RAM no longer appears to have centralized oversight. Instead, RAM organizes as individual “active clubs” dedicated to the group’s ideological tenants of providing camaraderie and athletic training for white men. These clubs are organized based on geography and participate in group physical fitness, training in MMA and combat sports, and propaganda activities such as graffiti and distributing stickers. According to Rundo, these smaller clubs provide members with local fellowship, particularly for white youth who have been eclipsed by minorities in other communal groups. Rundo has also praised

These groups identify as “active clubs,” not necessarily as part of RAM, though members appear in photos wearing RAM-branded clothing and tattoos.

RAM members have been involved in physical assaults at protests in California and Charlottesville, Virginia. RAM sent members to the August 2017 “Unite the Right” rally in Charlottesville, Virginia, after which co-founder Daley and three other members were charged with conspiracy to riot. All four pled guilty in 2019.<sup>527</sup> The U.S. Department of Justice has noted that RAM, a “white supremacy extremist group,” has used the Internet “with the intent to organize, promote, encourage, participate in, or carry on riots.”<sup>528</sup>

After Daley pled guilty in 2019 to rioting charges, RAM was considered defunct, according to court documents.<sup>529</sup> In June 2019, a federal judge dropped charges against Rundo and two other and two other RAM members in a separate case involving violent rioting.<sup>530</sup> In March 2021, the 9th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals reinstated rioting charges against Rundo.<sup>531</sup> RAM began a new recruitment drive online in celebration of its 2019 legal victory.<sup>532</sup> The group has since found new life on various online platforms. - Robert Rundo, December 7, 2020: “In the past young white males often took to things like Boy scouts, boxing clubs, and other organizations that provided young males an outlet to build themselves up and form comradery within their community. As we know, many of these once pillars of youth have been rotted from the inside out. Boy scouts no longer teach boys how to be men; instead softening them up, discouraging [sic] any forms of competition, accepting girls, and promoting LGBT values. All of these are having the desired effect of undoing its founding principles. In many working-class areas, boxing clubs used to be a staple for the youth, especially in Italian and Irish neighborhoods. These were often free gyms set up by the YMCA or the PAL for youth to stay off the streets and be productive. Today this is almost non-existent, and if they are around, they are far removed from any white neighborhoods and explicitly cater to blacks or other people of color. I speak from personal experience as I started boxing in one of these youth gyms in queens before closing. I took the bus an hour away from me to Corona Queens at Elmcore boxing club. The feeling in there being the lone white was most unwelcomed and, other times, outright hostile. The coaches were old-time five percenters (black supremacist) or Nation of Islam (black Muslims) types, which was very prevalent in the boxing world, especially in NY. The bottom line was, these places did not give a welcome to guys like us. As most

Traditionalist Worker Party/Traditionalist Youth Network

- Summary: The Traditionalist Worker Party (TWP) emerged in 2015 as the political arm of the Traditionalist Youth Network (TYN), which Matthew Parrott and Matthew Heimbach created in 2013. The TWP claimed to be America’s “first political party created by and for working families.”<sup>568</sup> Although the TWP claimed that it opposed racism, it endorsed former KKK leader David Duke for the U.S. Senate, praising his “service of our identity” and his work “against the actual racial supremacists: the Zionists.”<sup>569</sup> The group is guided by the Fourteen Words mantra: “We must secure the existence of our people and a future for White children.”<sup>570</sup> Deceased white supremacist David Lane created the motto, which has been adopted by the TWP and various other white nationalist groups.<sup>571</sup> The Fourteen Words are the basis for the TWP’s dedication to creating a “sustainable Homeland for our culture, identity, families, and blood.”<sup>572</sup> The TWP dissolved in 2018,<sup>573</sup> but Heimbach announced in July 2021 his intentions to revive the group.<sup>574</sup>

The Southern Poverty Law Center has dubbed Heimbach a “rising star in the white supremacist world.”<sup>575</sup> According to the Anti-Defamation League, Heimbach cites Duke as a major influence.<sup>576</sup> Parrott owns a compound in southern Indiana where he and his son-in-law, Heimbach, lived with other followers. The TWP planned to put forward candidates in Indiana’s state and local elections in 2018.<sup>577</sup> Heimbach promoted and attended the August 2017 Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia.<sup>578</sup>

The TWP focused its rhetoric on what it termed the pillars of faith, family, and folk. The party called for a rejection of atheism and secularism while claiming its members come from the “traditional faiths of the European people.” It promoted what it called traditional family values, and fought for the interests of white Americans, who it says have been “abandoned by the System and actively attacked by globalists and traitorous politicians.” The group claims it actively fights for a white homeland in order to secure the future existence of the white people.<sup>579</sup>

The group’s leadership fell into disarray in March 2018 after Heimbach was arrested for physical assault against his wife and Parrott, his step-father-in-law. Heimbach is married to Parrott’s stepdaughter. On March 13, 2018, Heimbach was arrested after a physical altercation with Parrott following Heimbach’s affair with Parrott’s wife. Matthew Parrott resigned from TWP following the incident.<sup>580</sup> Parrott told the Daily Beast that because of the public altercation, “people have lost faith in the party on every level.”<sup>581</sup> The TWP’s website shut down shortly after Parrott’s resignation, though its YouTube presence remains active. In September 2018, Heimbach briefly joined the National Socialist Movement as its community outreach director.<sup>582</sup>

Heimbach publicly renounced white nationalism in April 2020.<sup>583</sup> In February 2021, he told Ohio television station WKRC he had sobered up and his sympathies had shifted toward communism and leftist politicians like U.S. Senator Bernie Sanders. He told WKRC that the divisions between people were not race driven but based on economic disparities. As such, he said he would work with Black Lives Matter or any other racial group to fight against the economic gap. “The capitalist class that rules this country does not care, fundamentally,” he said.<sup>584</sup> That July, Heimbach was scheduled to speak at a Medicare For All rally in Muncie, Indiana. National organizers canceled the rally after receiving complaints about Heimbach’s participation.<sup>585</sup> Despite his claimed desire to work across racial communities for economic equality, Heimbach soon began to combine his ideology with his old. In July 2021, Heimbach announced his intentions to relaunch the TWP. He told the website Newsy he was drawing inspiration from Marxism and Bolshevism to support global revolution. Heimbach told Newsy he did not “particularly like Judaism as a religion.”<sup>586</sup> Heimbach also called for President Joe Biden and former presidents Donald Trump, Barack Obama, and George W. Bush to be tried for crimes against society. He pled the fifth amendment—protection from self-incrimination—when asked if it is permissible to kill the U.S. president. According to the report, Heimbach intended to relaunch the TWP that month.<sup>587</sup>

On November 23, 2021, a U.S. District Court in Charlottesville found Heimbach and other organizers of the Unite the Right rally liable in a civil suit that alleged they were responsible for injuries to counter-protesters. The jury was unable to reach a verdict on two federal conspiracy charges. The two dozen defendants in the lawsuit included Parrott, Richard Spencer, event organizer Jason Kessler, and neo-Nazi podcaster Christopher Cantwell, among others. The jury awarded plaintiffs more than $25 million in damages.<sup>588</sup> According to Heimbach's testimony during the trial, he had proposed the uniform of khakis and polo shirts for the rally. In a June 5, 2017, message to Vanguard America commander Dillon Hopper, Heimbach referred to the two of them, National Socialist Movement leader Jeff Schoep, and League of the South leader Michael Hill as the leadership of the far right. Heimbach said the Charlottesville rally would bring them together with other far-right leaders.<sup>589</sup> The jury held Heimbach liable for $500,000.<sup>590</sup> After the jury announced its decision, Heimbach claimed he is a single father of two sons, working paycheck to paycheck, and will never be able to pay the damages. He accused the plaintiffs' lawyers of wasting $20 million "to try and play Whac-A-Mole with public figureheads."<sup>591</sup> its Internet service provider.<sup>613</sup> The site later returned, but now redirects to the online home of VA breakaway group Patriot Front.<sup>614</sup> As exemplified by its slogan of “blood and soil,” VA ties national identity with racial identity. The group believes that the United States is meant exclusively for the white nation.<sup>615</sup>

In December 2016, authorities discovered VA fliers posted on the University of Maryland campus.<sup>616</sup> During the 2016-2017 school year, the Anti-Defamation League discovered 32 incidents of VA propaganda on university campuses in Arkansas, California, Florida, Indiana, Maryland, New Jersey, Oregon, Texas, Virginia, and Washington. The group also organizes public rallies in conjunction with other white supremacist groups.<sup>617</sup>

Thomas Ryan Rousseau, leader of VA’s Texas chapter, brought a contingent of VA members to the August 2017 Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia.<sup>618</sup> Alex Fields, who drove his car into a crowd of counter-protesters, killing one, was photographed wearing VA’s uniform during the rally. However, VA later denied that Fields belonged to the movement and condemned the use of violence, reiterating its claim to be a political movement.<sup>619</sup> In late August 2017, Rousseau broke from VA to form the Patriot Front after disagreements with its leaders. Rousseau reportedly seized control of VA’s servers and repurposed its website and social media accounts. The Patriot Front has since held rallies and displayed propaganda in California, Maryland, Illinois, Texas, Florida, and elsewhere across the country.<sup>620</sup> In January 2021 alone, Patriot Front posted banners and stencil graffiti in California, Missouri, New York state, New Jersey, North Carolina, Rhode Island, Chicago, Indiana, Arkansas, Tennessee, Texas, Ohio, Colorado, Massachusetts, Pennsylvania, Wyoming, Michigan, Arizona, Connecticut, Idaho, and Vermont.<sup>621</sup>

The Patriot Front has embraced imagery that is both patriotic American and traditional fascist. The Front has imbued its manifesto with patriotic language that paints the organization as the savior of an America that, “as we know it, is already dead or will not survive. This age of our people will instead be seen as an era of rebirth, and the beginning of a new chapter in history.” The Front is dedicated to creating a “nation within a nation” that it claims will be a “hard reset” of the current America and “a return to the traditions and virtues of our forefathers.”<sup>645</sup> During its demonstrations, the Front has employed anti-immigrant, antisemitic, and racist language that calls for the deportation and/or the marginalization of non-whites.<sup>646</sup> Patriot Front propaganda employs nationalist messages such as “America First,”<sup>647</sup> “Better dead than red,”<sup>648</sup> “Not Stolen, Conquered”—emblazoned above a map of the United States,<sup>649</sup> “One Nation Against Invasion,”<sup>650</sup> “America Is Not For Sale,”<sup>651</sup> and “Life, Liberty, Victory.”<sup>652</sup>

- Violent Activities: Neither the VA nor the Patriot Front have directly engaged in violent activity. Nonetheless, the VA insignia was displayed by a person who engaged in a violent attack. Patriot Front propaganda features members sparring with one another.<sup>653</sup>
  - August 12, 2017: James Alex Fields displayed a VA shield during the Unite the Right rally in Charlottesville, Virginia. At the rally, Fields drove his car into a group of counter-protesters, killing one woman. VA later denied that Fields belonged to the organization.<sup>654</sup>
- Rhetoric:
  - Patriot Front website, February 2, 2021: “Democracy wears the feathers of a dove, yet is delivered at the tip of a bayonet. It would be cause for mass revelation and understanding alone if the powerful simply retired the façade of democracy in their words as they have done in their actions. It is an insidious and inhuman system that so adeptly maneuvers and exploits the bedlam of public discord it has created.”<sup>655</sup>

This is the most nightmarish form of tyranny. The tyranny of imperialism and misrepresentative governance."<sup>658</sup>
- Patriot Front website, February 8, 2020: "The national government is dead, and the International State killed it. Through the importation of foreign masses, to the destruction of the nation's social and economic defenses, to the expansion of materialistic ideologies and the attacks on the American family, the International State has sought to dilute and dissolve the nation into a boiling pot of alien peoples for the sake of political profiteering."<sup>659</sup>

The nation's future is not to be ground beneath the boot of materialistic production in service of some global delusion."<sup>660</sup>
- Patriot Front website, July 6, 2019: "Lies and slander erupt from the corrupted voices in the false press, and the financial puppets in the Boston government unworthy of the blood-stained soil they desecrate with their unrighteous governance. The same spirit that urged our ancestors onward to create this nation will once again be brought to light, and a new America will be built within its current dilapidated, shameful iteration. It is now our duty to make their sacrifices mean something.”<sup>663</sup>

- Patriot Front manifesto: “America is a bleeding carcass, bereft of the moral foundations which made it powerful. The America of modernity is little more than an economic zone in which the dollar is used. A unified culture no longer exists due to replacement migration. Ethical standards no longer exist due to the steady erosion of the history of the American nation. The State has situated itself on an ever growing pile of parasitic rules and regulations. ### Additional White Supremacist Media and Propaganda Sites

Like other extremist movements, the white nationalist movement has an aversion to mainstream media, which it largely views as controlled by Jewish/Zionist interests, beholden to the far left, and/or anti-white. For example, in February 2017, League of the South leader Michael Hill accused the New York Times of being “anti-white and anti-Christian”<sup>672</sup> As such, white nationalists have created their own media platforms in order to propagate their views. CEP has compiled the following list of some of the most popular white nationalist propaganda outlets:

- Barnes Review: An online magazine that promotes revisionist history, eugenics, and antisemitism. Blog posts include topics such as “Why the Holocaust Story Was Invented,”<sup>673</sup> “DNA and Ancient White Egypt,”<sup>674</sup> and “Black History Month Myths.”<sup>675</sup> The website also includes an online bookstore that sells racist material such as IQ and Race by Richard Hume, which argues that race determines intelligence.<sup>676</sup>
- Occidental Quarterly: A print and online magazine that “unapologetically defends the cultural, ethnic, and racial interests of Western European peoples and examines
