Overview

Executive Summary:

The Nordic Resistance Movement (Nordiska motståndsrörelsen, or NRM) is a transnational, neo-Nazi organization with official chapters operating in Sweden, Finland, and Norway. The NRM also draws support from neo-Nazis in Denmark and has some registered members in Iceland, though the group has failed to establish formal branches in those countries.¹

NRM-Sweden has grown more than one-third in size since 2015.

Formed by neo-Nazi nationalists in Sweden in 1997, the NRM seeks to merge all Nordic countries into a single, nationalist-socialist state, either by elections or through revolution. The group is openly racist, anti-immigrant, anti-Semitic, and pro-Hitler—and has carried out violence targeting gay people, ideological opponents and, more recently, Muslim refugees. Since the start of 2015, NRM's branch in Sweden (NRM-Sweden) has grown more than one-third in size by advocating against Sweden's open-door policy to Muslim asylum seekers. That chapter registered as a political party in July 2015, and held its largest rally in September 2017—convening more than 600 demonstrators in the streets of Gothenburg.²

Many of the NRM's co-founders and early members came from the now-defunct White Aryan Resistance (Vitt Ariskt Motstånd, or VAM) and its offshoot National Youth (Nationell Ungdom). The VAM, a network of Swedish neo-Nazis formed in the early 1990s, was notorious for carrying out attacks against immigrants and gay people and for funding its violence through bank robberies. The group splintered into several white-power groups in or around 1995, among them National Youth, which would go on to serve as the NRM's youth movement.³

Nordic Resistance Movement (NRM)

NRM [has] carried out attacks targeting gay people, Muslims asylum seekers, and [others]... using smoking flares, pepper spray, tear gas, knives, and guns.

At its founding in 1997, the NRM was known as the Swedish Resistance Movement (Svenska motståndsrörelsen)—though the group expanded from a Swedish-centered group to one spanning the Nordic region and adopted the name NRM after establishing Finnish and Norwegian chapters in 2008 and 2011, respectively.⁴ Media outlets and government officials, however, at times refer to NRM-Sweden as the Swedish Resistance Movement; NRM-Norway as the Norwegian Resistance Movement; and NRM-Finland as the Finnish Resistance Movement.⁵ The group itself identifies as the “Nordic Resistance Movement,” and may refer to its various chapters as the “Swedish branch of the Nordic Resistance Movement,” for example.⁶

NRM members have been responsible for the murder of at least three individuals—two in Sweden and one in Finland. Future NRM-Sweden co-founder Klas Lund was convicted in 1986 of killing anti-racist campaigner Ronny Landin who, according to authorities, had intervened to stop an assault on three immigrants by Lund and other neo-Nazis.⁷ In 1999, three men connected to National Youth, NRM-Sweden’s youth movement, shot to death trade unionist Björn Söderberg outside of his Stockholm apartment. According to reports, the shooting was revenge for a tip Söderberg had given a local newspaper regarding the identity of one of the NRM members.⁸ More recently, in December 2016, key NRM-Finland member Jesse Torniaainen was handed a two-year prison sentence for aggravated assault in connection to the murder of 28-year-old Finnish man Jimi Joonas Karttonen. According to reports, Torniaainen and others had violently beaten Karttonen that September after the latter openly expressed disapproval of the group during one of its rallies. Karttonen died one week later from his wounds.⁹ In November 2017, a Finnish district court banned the NRM and its affiliated chapters. An appeals court upheld the decision in September 2018, but the NRM has since sought permission to appeal its case to the Supreme Court and remains legal in Finland until all options for appeal are exhausted. A decision is expected for fall 2019.¹⁰

NRM-Sweden’s co-founder was convicted of manslaughter.

NRM leaders and members have also carried out attacks targeting gay people, Muslims asylum seekers, and the group’s ideological adversaries using smoking flares, pepper spray, tear gas, knives, and guns. Some of these attacks have been carried out by top NRM-Sweden leaders, including the chapter’s current leader Simon Lindberg—who was previously convicted of threats and aiding and abetting assault—and its former spokesman Emil Hagberg, who was convicted on weapons and rioting charges related to a fight between NRM-Sweden members and anti-racist campaigners in the Stockholm suburb of Kärrtorp.¹¹ That fight occurred in December 2013 when demonstrators at an anti-racism march retaliated after NRM-Sweden members attacked their rally with smoking flares. The fighting moved into the nearby woods, according to reports. Four people were injured—including two who were stabbed—and 28 others were arrested.¹²

Since at least November 2016, NRM-Sweden members in the western city of Gothenburg have carried out three improvised explosive device (IED) attacks, according to Swedish authorities. The bombs—one of which failed to detonate—targeted a far-left café and two refugee lodging centers. The first incident occurred on November 11, 2016, when a bomb exploded at the Syndikaliskt Forum Kafe, though no one was hurt. NRM-Sweden member Viktor Melin was later arrested in relation to the bombing.¹³ Then, on January 5, 2017, NRM-Sweden members detonated homemade bombs outside of a refugee lodging center, injuring one immigration officer.¹⁴ Authorities later arrested three men in connection to that bombing, noting that the suspects “are or were in the past members of the Nordic Resistance Movement.”¹⁵ On January 25, 2017, Swedish authorities discovered an IED—which had failed to detonate—outside of another refugee housing compound. Officials said that the incident was linked to the Syndikaliskt Forum Kafe and refugee center attacks.¹⁶ In June 2017, Swedish prosecutors charged three men in connection to the far-left café and refugee lodging center attacks. A month later, a court in Goteborg sentenced Viktor Melin, who made all three bombs, to eight years and six months imprisonment for attempted murder and endangering others. Two other NRM members—Jimmy Jonasson and Anton Thulin—were sentenced to five years and 18 months in prison, respectively. They were acquitted of attempted murder.¹⁷ Initial investigations revealed that two of the men had received military training in Russia before returning to Sweden to execute the bombings. But there is little publicly available information regarding who provided training to the men.¹⁸

[NRM members are] strong in the streets, they dare to fight back the scum. Simon Lindberg, leader of NRM-Sweden

The attacks perpetrated by NRM members reflect a deeper, systematic allegiance to—and propagation of—the group’s extremist, violent ideology. According to reports, members receive martial arts training and are educated on how to respond if violence arises in the streets.¹⁹ The group previously sold a knife inscribed with the maxim, “The struggle demands more than only words.”²⁰ While the group is not believed to currently produce or sell personalized weaponry, a former NRM member told the BBC in late 2014 that he was encouraged by the group’s members to carry a weapon on the streets.²¹ Such an ethos has had a widespread effect on level of violence among the group's members. In February 2017, the Norwegian government-owned broadcasting company NRK revealed that of the top 30 NRM-Norway leaders and supporters, 17 had been sentenced a total of 24 times in Norwegian courts in the past decade. According to NRK, six of those sentences involved severe acts of violence.²² And in 2016, Swedish anti-racism organization Expo found that of 159 of NRM-Sweden's most active members, 26 percent had been sentenced or prosecuted for violence- or weapons-related charges in 2015 alone.²³

Nordic Resistance Movement (NRM)

NRM-Sweden has carried out at least three IED attacks.

Despite its ties to violence, NRM-Sweden officially registered as a political party in July 2015.²⁴ The group was inspired to enter politics after one of its key members, Pär Öberg, was elected in 2014 as a write-in candidate for the Sweden Democrats party in the Ludvika municipality's local elections.²⁵ There is little publicly-available information on NRM-Sweden's political party, which is registered by the Swedish government as "Nordiska motståndsrörelsen"—the same name used for the larger NRM-Sweden movement. Mainstream media previously believed that NRM-Sweden would not make political gains, but rather lend most of its efforts to extra-parliamentary activities, such as violence, intimidation, and crime.²⁶ However, NRM-Sweden participated in Sweden's September 2018 general elections and received a total of 2,106 votes (or 0.03 percent). This meant that the group did not pass the 4 percent threshold to enter into parliament.²⁷

Doctrine:

The NRM subscribes to a nationalist socialist, or neo-Nazi, ideology. To that end, the group is avowedly anti-Semitic, anti-gay, anti-immigrant, pro-white, and pro-Hitler. In its 2015 party platform "Our Path," the NRM warns that the Nordic states—as well as the entire Western world—are controlled by the "global Zionist elite."²⁸ The NRM thus seeks to "regain power" from that elite and unite the Nordic states into a "Nordic Nation" able to "assert itself militarily, economically and culturally."²⁹

"We are National Socialists [Nazis]. Our main aim is the protection of Sweden's [white] people and culture. - Emil Hagberg, NRM spokesman

Neo-Nazi

The NRM has openly expressed support for Nazi Germany. As the group said in its 2015 party platform "Our Path":

"From our point of view, National Socialism [Nazism], [as] proven during the short time it held power in Germany, has been the only form of government that has significantly threatened the destructive forces [i.e. Zionism] that rule the world. From 1945 until today, these same destructive forces have continually conducted political genocide against the Nordic and ethnic peoples of Europe. They recognize National Socialism as the chief enemy of their worldview, because it delivers a strategy of survival for our race...."³⁰

NRM members are believed to have used techniques practiced by the Nazis during World War II. A former NRM-Sweden member using the pseudonym "Johan" told the BBC in late 2014 that he left the group when he realized that his fellow members were "measuring skulls...to decide who was Aryan and who wasn't."³¹ In January 2018, a Swedish court convicted NRM leader Simon Lindberg of "contempt for groups based on their race, skin color, national or ethnic origin by shouting 'Sieg Heil' while raising his right arm upwards" during a November 2016 rally. The court initially recommended one month in prison but reduced the sentence to an 800 krona ($98) fine because the NRM had a legal permit for the rally.³²

Anti-Semitic

NRM members believe that Jews are racist as they consider themselves the "chosen people." According to the NRM's party platform, these Jews lead the "global Zionist elite," which seeks "not only to promote the state of Israel, but also to contribute to long-term instability in all nations who may pose a threat to their power structure."³³ In addition, the NRM believes that Sweden's media is "Jewish owned."³⁴ According to the dissident former leader of NRM-Finland, Esa Holappa, NRM members who share nonconforming views are often branded as "Jews" or "Zionists" in order to silence and delegitimize them.³⁵

The NRM's official website, Nordfront.se, features a section dedicated to what the NRM perceives as the dangers of Judaism and Zionism. Articles in this section, titled "The Jewish Question," include: "The EU is Taking Further Censorship Measures to Protect Jewish Power;" "Israel Undermines the American Electoral System," and "Jewish Feminist Celebrates the Extinction of White Men." Through the articles, the NRM seeks to propagate anti-Semitic messaging and draw supporters to its cause.³⁶

NRM has carried out IED attacks against Muslim asylum seekers.

Anti-Immigrant and Pro-White

The NRM is vehemently opposed to foreign immigration to the Nordic states. The group believes that the arrival of “foreign races” in Nordic nations has resulted in the “physical displacement and genocide” of the Nordic people, who have a “unique gene pool.”³⁷ In its 2015 party platform, the NRM writes that it seeks to not only “stop mass immigration,” but to repatriate ethnically non-Nordic people. If granted power, the NRM says it will: 1) “Introduce a complete halt of all non-Nordic immigration;” 2) “Establish a government institution that will efficiently and with the aid of modern genetic profiling, racially assess [sic] all people who have acquired citizenship after 1975 and their descendants;” 3) “Promptly begin retuning the majority of racial foreigners situated within the borders of the Nordic region.”³⁸

According to Swedish authorities, NRM-Sweden members carried out two IED attacks against Muslim asylum seekers in January 2017 in the Swedish city of Gothenburg. In the first attack, on January 2017, suspected NRM-Sweden members detonated homemade bombs outside of a refugee lodging center, injuring one immigration officer.³⁹ Authorities later arrested three men in connection to that bombing, noting that the suspects “are or were in the past members of the Nordic Resistance Movement.”⁴⁰ Then, on January 25, 2017, Swedish authorities discovered an IED—which had failed to detonate—outside of another refugee housing compound. Officials believe that both incidents were linked to a third bombing at a far-left café in Gothenburg in November 2016.⁴¹

“[We would] outlaw the homosexual lobby and other propaganda targeted at natural family unit [and] ban flagrant homosexuality in the public realm.” - NRM

Anti-Gay

The NRM is openly anti-gay. Its members believe that gay people are “perverts” aiming to destroy the concept of the nuclear family.⁴² According to its 2015 party platform, the groups seeks to ban gay marriage and “promote and elevate the natural family ideal between a man and a woman.” In addition, the group seeks to “outlaw the homosexual lobby and other propaganda targeted at natural family unit,” as well as “ban flagrant homosexuality in the public realm.”⁴³

The NRM often refers to the normalization of homosexuality as the “homolobby,” which it defines as “Jewish cultural Marxism...forces directly and indirectly leading to the philosophical ideas and ideals of the gay community in society.” According to a page on the group’s website, “The homolobby promotes popular enemy decadence and anti-culture, which helps to undermine and dissolve the natural structures of society. Thus, the very premise of a further existence for our people.”⁴⁴

NRM members have carried out attacks on gay people, with numerous such attacks by the group’s members recorded in Sweden throughout 2005. In 2012, a member of NRM-Finland attacked Helsinki city counselor Dan Koivulaakso with pepper spray at a gay-rights event in the Finnish city of Oulu, and in 2013, members of NRM-Finland used tear gas and pepper spray to attack participants in the Helsinki Gay Pride Parade.⁴⁵

Organizational Structure:

One NRM rally in September 2017 drew 600 demonstrators.

The NRM is believed to comprise between 250 to 300 core members spread throughout Sweden, Norway, and Finland—though the group may attract many more sympathizers.⁴⁶ In September 2017, NRM-Sweden alone drew more than 600 demonstrators in its largest rally to date.⁴⁷ According to an August 2018 estimate by the Finnish-owned media outlet Yle, NRM-Finland is comprised of approximately 120 fully-fledged members.⁴⁸ The Norwegian-owned NRK media company reported in February 2017 that that country’s branch contains “a dozen” core activists.⁴⁹

In a June 2016 interview on NRM-Finland’s radio station Riimuradio, NRM-Sweden leader Simon Lindberg revealed that NRM-Sweden is comprised of six distinct “nests,” or areas of operation, throughout Sweden. According to Lindberg, “in every nest, you then have [NRM] activist groups. So one nest could be many activist groups.” Lindberg noted that “nests” may not be utilized by NRM-Finland, implying that NRM’s chapters may not share identical organizational structures.⁵⁰

According to one far-right European group, the NRM offers four distinct levels of membership. In the first level of membership, members donate to the group but do not partake in organizational activities. In the second level, members are expected to donate money as well as participate in the group's activities. In the third level of membership, members donate a larger amount of money than the previous two groups, and are required to pass a physical fitness test and receive martial arts training. In the highest level of membership, the most committed members swear an oath of allegiance to the group and its mission. These top members also carry out the responsibilities (donations and martial arts training) required of the lower member groups.⁵¹

Finnish authorities have taken measures to try and ban NRM-Finland. In response, the group developed several contingency measures should the ban be successful, according to an investigation conducted by the Finnish Broadcasting Company Yle in December 2018. The group created a new nationalist political party in spring 2018, called Kansan Yhtenäisyys (roughly translated as Nation United), and sought to collect enough pledges of support to achieve official political party status. NRM-Finland leader Antti Niemi also founded the charity organization Suomalaisapu (Finnish Aid) in order to attract new members and voters. Additionally, NRM-Finland increased its recruitment efforts, proving that the group has remained resilient according to the Finnish interior ministry. The group also sought closer cooperation with the nationalist street patrol group Soldiers of Odin. Members of both groups have participated in each other's activities. Moreover, NRM-Finland member Jesse Torniainen established an office in Estonia, and the group moved the organization's website outside Finland.⁵²

In January 2019, NRM-Sweden published the group's objectives for the upcoming five years on its website. These include offering regular lectures open to the public, setting up additional official local headquarters, and tripling the numbers of active members. NRM-Sweden also expressed interest in expanding into local radio and media services, achieve parliamentary representation, and establish a cooperative relationship with other like-minded organizations around the world.⁵³

Financing:

The NRM notes in its party platform document "Our Path" that all the funding it receives comes from "member donations and sympathetic individuals and organizations."⁵⁴ The group openly solicits donations on its various affiliated websites, noting that the "organization receives no state funding," and asking potential donors to "consider [a donation as] an investment in a brighter future."⁵⁵

Recruitment:

In or around 2003, NRM's then-leader Klas Lund wrote in the group's magazine Nationelt Motstånd that the organization did not seek to recruit "as many [individuals] as possible," but rather to build "an inner core of fanatic activists who can increasingly bring the national message out to the masses."⁵⁶ This outlook may have changed in recent years, as the group now attempts to bring as many people as possible under its umbrella. An official NRM manual released in August 2016 states that the information within it is directed "not only to activists in the [NRM], but rather to all who can actively associate with the organization regardless of the level of engagement."⁵⁷

In recent years, the NRM has capitalized on the influx of refugees from the Middle East and North Africa in an attempt to spread fear, recruit, and further its agenda. According to anti-racism organization Expo, NRM-Sweden has grown more than one third in size since the beginning of 2015 by advocating against Sweden's open-door policy to Muslim asylum seekers. The NRM has held numerous anti-immigration rallies, and has hung signs throughout Sweden, Finland, and Norway reading "Refugees Are Not Welcome."⁵⁸ The NRM also produces manuals, stickers, leaflets, and flyers, which it distributes at rallies, on the streets, and in mailboxes.⁵⁹

NRM-Sweden leader Simon Lindberg said in mid-2016 that the group had "recruited a lot of new members" since the start of the refugee crisis. However, Lindberg attributed much of this new recruitment to the group's sturdy base. According to Lindberg, it would be "very unfair to only give the refugee crisis credibility for our growth, because we have worked hard for many[,] many years and gained a lot of experience during our struggle. Without having a solid ground...we wouldn't have recruited a single person, no matter how many immigrants come flooding in over our borders."⁶⁰

In December 2018, NRM-Norway continued its "Winter Aid" tradition of handing out gift packages to the white-Norwegian destitute population in Oslo in order to gain further popularity and support. Packages included traditional Yuletide pork ribs, coffee, mulled wine, warm clothes, clean underwear, and cosmetics. Items were either donated by local supporters or newly purchased.⁶¹

Training:

NRM members are trained in martial arts. Some have received foreign military training.

The NRM is reported to train members in martial arts, and members are taught how to respond if violence arises in the streets.⁶² The NRM openly advertises physical training sessions on its website, noting that the group “climbs mountains, arranges self-defense courses...and excursions in forest and land.”⁶³

In June 2017, Swedish prosecutors charged three NRM-Sweden members in connection to bombings targeting a far-left café and two refugee lodging centers in November 2016 and January 2017. According to prosecutors, two of the NRM-Sweden members had received military training in Russia just before returning to Sweden to carry out the attacks. There is little publicly-available information regarding who exactly provided training to these individuals.⁶⁴

- April 2, 2021: NRM members hang posters around Norway declaring, “The Covid-19 vaccine is not properly tested – But the system wants you vaccinated anyway!”
Source: “Poster action against experimental Covid-19 vaccines,” Nordic Resistance Movement, April 2, 2021, <https://nordicresistancemovement.org/poster-action-against-experimental-covid-19-vaccines/>.
- - : A Jewish cemetery in Aalborg, Denmark, is vandalized during the Jewish Passover holiday.
Red paint is thrown on a wall and dolls with red paint on them, along with leaflets calling Passover a holiday of carnage, are left in the cemetery. The leaflets list NRM’s website. The vandalism is part of a nationwide NRM campaign during Passover. Sources: “Jewish cemetery in Denmark vandalized over Passover with red paint, hanged dolls,” Jewish News Syndicate, April 5, 2021, <https://www.jns.org/jewish-cemetery-in-denmark-vandalized-over-passover-with-red-paint-hanged-dolls/>; “Pesach – Another Jewish bloodbath celebration,” Nordic Resistance Movement, April 10, 2021, <https://nordicresistancemovement.org/pesach-another-jewish-bloodbath-celebration/>.
- On March 13, NRM members in Nyköping, Sweden distribute “White Lives Matter” propaganda.
On March 21, coinciding with the United Nations’ International Day Against Racism, NRM members in Denmark post propaganda praising the white race and decrying anti-racism as anti-white. - December 21, 2020: Finland’s Pirkanmaa District Court declares the group Pohjoinen Perinne (“Nordic Tradition”) bankrupt.
Pohjoinen Perinne is a registered association of NRM. Source: “Court declares neo-Nazi group bankrupt,” Yle, December 21, 2020, https://yle.fi/uutiset/osasto/news/court_declares_neo_nazi_group_bankrupt/11710334/.
- September 22, 2020: The Finnish Supreme Court orders the shutdown of the NRM to preserve the general good of society.
According to the court, the group repeatedly violated the law and acted against accepted moral codes such as human rights and equality. Source: Pekka Vanttinen, “HELSINKI – Neo-Nazi group banned,” Euractiv, September 22, 2020, www.euractiv.com/section/all/short_news/helsinki-neo-nazi-group-banned/.
- September 13, 2020: Finnish police arrest two suspects who are under investigation for the attempted murder of Pekka Kataja, an activist known for advocating against far-right elements within a local Finns Party group, in July 2020.
One of the suspects, Tero Ala-Tuuhonen, is reportedly one of the leaders of the NRM. Source: “Two right-wing suspects held in political attempted murder case,” News Now, September 13, 2020, <https://newsnowfinland.fi/crime/two-right-wing-suspects-held-in-political-attempted-murder-case>.
- November 7, 2019 - November 14, 2019: On November 9, 84 Jewish tombstones were vandalized in the city of Randers, Denmark.
On November 14, Danish police arrest Jacob Vullum Andersen—an NRM leader—and an accomplice, on charges of gross vandalism and a hate crime offense. Andersen claims he was not involved. However, he voiced support for the anti-Semitic vandalism. - September 28, 2018: Finland’s Turku Appeal Court upholds the November 2017 decision by the Pirkanmaa District Court to ban the NRM and its regional chapters, including the affiliated Finnish group Pohjoinen Perinne or Nordic Tradition group.
The court rules that the NRM has embraced violence and is thus not protected under the law. Nonetheless, the ban is not enforceable until all avenues of appeal are exhausted. Source: “Ban on neo-Nazi group upheld by Turku appeal court,” Yle Uutiset, September 29, 2018, https://yle.fi/uutiset/osasto/news/ban_on_neo_nazi_group_upheld_by_turku_appeal_court/10429858.
- September 9, 2018: NRM participates in Sweden’s general elections and receives a total of 2.106 votes (equivalent to 0.03 percent).

Nordic Resistance Movement (NRM)

However, the group fails to pass the 4 percent threshold to enter into parliament. Source: “Elections to the Riksdag – Votes,” Valmyndigheten, accessed January 14, 2019, <https://data.val.se/val/val2018/slutresultat/R/rike/index.html>.

- August 11, 2018: Police arrest a member of NRM-Sweden suspected of planning to murder two journalists. Authorities find a home-made shotgun and ammunition in the suspect’s possession, as well as silencers and a contraption designed to fire the concealed weapon from inside a bag. Source: “Swedish Nazi arrested for planned murder of journalists,” The Local, August 11, 2018, <https://www.thelocal.se/20180811/swedish-nazi-arrested-for-planned-murder-of-journalists>.
- July 6, 2018: NRM-Sweden holds meetings and demonstrations at Almedalen Week (also referred to as Politician’s Week), the biggest political event in Sweden, attempting to be more visible in the build-up to the Swedish election. Swedish authorities have come under sharp criticism for allowing the party to participate. Sources: “Swedish neo-Nazi Party Attends Biggest Political Event in Sweden,” Haaretz, July 6, 2018, <https://www.haaretz.com/world-news/swedish-neo-nazi-party-attends-biggest-political-event-in-sweden-1.6244771>; “Neo-Nazi disturbances at Almedalen could ‘change the nature’ of Swedish political staple,” Local (Stockholm), July 6, 2018, <https://www.thelocal.se/20180706/neo-nazi-disturbances-at-almedalen-could-change-the-nature-of-swedish-political-staple>.
- January 2, 2018: A Swedish court convicts NRM leader Simon Lindberg of “contempt for groups based on their race, skin color, national or ethnic origin by shouting ‘Sieg Heil’ while raising his right arm upwards” during a November 2016 rally. The court sentences Lindberg to an 800 krona ($98) fine. Nordic Resistance Movement (NRM)

Violent history:

NRM leaders and members have carried out attacks against gay people, Muslims asylum seekers, and the group's ideological adversaries—using smoking flares, pepper spray, tear gas, knives, and guns. Since the 1980s, NRM members have killed at least three people: anti-racist campaigner Ronny Landin, trade unionist Björn Söderberg, and passerby Jimi Joonas Karttonen, who were beaten or shot to death in 1986, 1999, and 2016, respectively.

NRM members have killed at least three people.

NRM members are reported to receive martial arts training and are educated on how to respond if fighting arises in the streets.⁶⁹ In addition, the group previously sold a knife inscribed with the maxim “The struggle demands more than only words.”⁷⁰ In a 2016 interview with NRM-Sweden leader Simon Lindberg, Lindberg said that he joined the group because its members are “strong in the streets, they dare to fight back the scum.”⁷¹ However, Swedish prosecutors believe that three NRM-Sweden members—sentenced in July 2017 in connection to three bombings on a far-left café and two refugee centers in November 2016 and January 2017—were “dissatisfied” that NRM leadership had not wanted to use violence “to the same extent” as the three men. Prosecutors believe that two of those men had received military training in Russia before returning to Sweden to carry out the bombings—though it is unclear from whom they received training.⁷²

Designations:

Designations by the U.S. Government:

- In April 2021, U.S. Representative Elissa Slotkin called on the U.S. government to designate a dozen foreign white supremacist groups as terrorist organizations, including NRM.⁹⁵

Designations by Foreign Governments and Organizations:

- Some Finnish officials—including members of the National Police Board and Kari Harju, the head of the Finnish Security Intelligence Service—urged their government to ban NRM-Finland. However, Helsinki did not take that step until September 2020.⁹⁶
- Finland’s Pirkanmaa District Court banned the NRM in November 2017 and Finland’s Turku Appeal Court upheld the decision in September 2018.⁹⁷
- On September 22, 2020, the Finnish Supreme Court ordered the banning of the NRM to preserve the general good of society. According to the court, the group repeatedly violated the law and acted against accepted moral codes such as human rights and equality.⁹⁸

Nordic Resistance Movement (NRM)

Associations:

Ties to Extremist Entities:

- NRM's chapters in Finland and Norway are reported to communicate and cooperate with NRM-Sweden on common strategy and goals. According to the Finnish Security Intelligence Service's communications chief, NRM-Finland works closely with NRM-Sweden to promote the concept of white supremacy and a unified Nordic nation.⁹⁹ The Norwegian-owned media outlet NRK has also said there is "close cooperation" between the Norwegian and Swedish branches.¹⁰⁰ There may also be significant cooperation between members of NRM-Finland and NRM-Norway. According to Finland's national broadcasting company Yle, "[all NRM members] keep in touch with each other, travel to meetings and participate in each other's actions and activities."¹⁰¹ NRM also maintains ties with other neo-Nazi, ultranationalist groups outside of the Nordic states, most notably Golden Dawn in Greece, NPD in Germany, and the Russian Imperial Movement in Russia.¹⁰²
- Golden Dawn
The NRM ideologically supports Golden Dawn, the Greek neo-Nazi political party that has grown to become the third most powerful party in that country. The NRM has publicly signaled its support for Golden Dawn since at least September 2013, when Greek authorities arrested more than 20 Golden Dawn members in a government crackdown. The following month, the NRM released an open letter to the Greek ambassadors stationed in Nordic nations. The letter referred to the Greek government as a "proxy government for the Zionist plutocrats," and warned that the arrest of Golden Dawn members "is a heinous act by a dictatorial regime and constitutes a dire threat to the freedom of the Greek people."¹⁰³ In early November 2013, approximately 80 NRM-Sweden members marched through Stockholm toward the Greek embassy in support of the arrested Golden Dawn members.¹⁰⁴ More recently, in July 2016, Golden Dawn released an interview with NRM-Sweden leader Simon Lindberg on one of its YouTube pages.¹⁰⁵
- National Democratic Party of Germany (NPD)
Members of the NRM have reportedly attended conferences hosted by the National Democratic Party (NPD), a far-right German political party that advocates racist, anti-Semitic, and revisionist views.¹⁰⁶

Nordic Resistance Movement (NRM)

Rhetoric:

Simon Lindberg, January 11, 2021

“The Nordic Resistance Movement’s vision of a free and united National Socialist Nordic Nation is diametrically opposed to their Cultural Marxist destruction of all natural values and the enslavement of humanity. Our diligent work over more than two decades, in combination with the fact that we have stood firm and never budged an inch – despite repression and adversity – has given us an organisational structure that few other nationalist groups in the world even come close to.

“All in all, this means we are viewed as a huge threat to the power of those who rule today. They see a potential for growth in us that gives them the chills. They understand the enormous appeal of National Socialism and know that our work breaks down their barriers of lies and brainwashing and makes the people increasingly receptive to us. They know the same thing as I do – that in time we have a very good chance of winning, and naturally they will do everything they can to prevent it. One stage in this process is to ban us, and one step in succeeding in that aim is to first lobby for a ban.”¹⁰⁷

NRM website editorial staff, March 31, 2021

“The Nordic Resistance Movement is the combat battalion of free White people, and the only political organisation in Denmark that fights mass immigration from a natural worldview.

“Therefore, the Resistance Movement’s activists from all over the country were in action in the days leading up to the globalist lackeys’ demonstrations in Aarhus, Odense and Copenhagen. In all three locations, posters were put up, and banners were hung by the cities’ access roads and in other selected places, including the UN building in Copenhagen.

“White race-conscious National Socialists hear the globalist lackeys’ desire for diversity, and remind everyone that a racially mixed population is anything but diverse.

“Free White National Socialists hear the globalist lackeys’ demands for political correctness and uniformity, and reply that racial equality is a falsehood.

“Proud White National Socialists hear the globalist lackeys’ anti-White slogans and urge every Aryan to love his own people.”¹⁰⁸

NRM website editorial staff, April 10, 2021

“Via economic speculation, cunning and unscrupulousness, the Jews ‘bought’ themselves into the land of Egypt and lived there in wealth and comfort like parasites. When the ruling Pharaoh died and a new Pharaoh came to power, he saw how the Jews indulged in the luxury of Egypt without working, he saw how the Jews’ power had grown, and he saw that these Jews were internationally minded and ‘friends’ with Egypt’s enemies, and thus a great danger. The Pharaoh then put the Jews to work for the nation and for their daily bread, like everyone else, and for this the Jews wanted revenge. Possibly the first Bolshevik uprising was brewing, and the Jews now blamed their hard life on the landowners, industrialists and bourgeois – and, as is the case in Jewish/Bolshevik revolutions, the Jews persuaded the lower strata of society, the mob, to revolt against their own flesh and blood in a struggle for ‘The Chosen People’, who had created their problems in the first place. (Workers of the world, unite!)

“The Jewish festival of Pesach in modern times – which this year is celebrated from Saturday, 27 March to Sunday, 4 April – involves animal cruelty in the form of the bloody ritual slaughter of a lamb on Pesach night, as well as baking the traditional matzah-bread, which was historically made with human blood.”¹⁰⁹

Jacob Vullum Andersen, November 2019

“We think it is positive that people have finally woken up and recognised that Jewish power and Jewish infiltration in society are extremely harmful and undesirable.”¹¹⁰

“The Nordic Resistance Movement will be a mountaintop, like a lighthouse in the storm. Principal and uncompromising, fanatical and revolutionary – from leadership to activist on the street – we will tirelessly fight further, day in and day out.”¹¹¹
